

DUTCH WARSHIPS

May Establish Blockades in Venezuelan Cities

WILLEMSTAD, Nov. 2.—The Netherlands government had Nov. 1 as the limit of time for Venezuela to revoke the decree of President Castro, issued on May 14, prohibiting the transshipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Curaçao. President Castro has refused to revoke this decree, but as yet so far as is known here, The Netherlands government has not decided upon definite action. There has been much activity here of late, but in an interview yesterday the governor of Curaçao said that Holland could not have assistance that Venezuela had not revoked the decree at the first hour of the day fixed according to the ultimatum before taking any active measures. He believed that his government had made ample preparations for any eventuality and he added that a statement would doubtless be issued to-day announcing the position of Holland and Venezuela and what action it was proposed to take.

The opinion is held among naval officers here that no direct steps would be taken within a week. The battleship Jacob Van Heemskerck and the protected cruiser Priental, which are now in this port, still have on board all the superfluous equipments which would be discarded in time of war. The report is current that Captain Soethoudt, who is in command of the fleet, has been promoted to rear admiral.

Saturday evening the governor of Curaçao received an important telegram from Holland, and he at once called a meeting of his council and the commanders of the warships. The deliberations were lengthy, but the result has not been made public.

Advises received by the steamer Zulu from Maracaibo state that it was reported on Oct. 4 that President Castro had ordered the mobilization of 25,000 troops to be ready Nov. 2. Two days later there were rumors that Gen. Nicholas Rolando, who previously had been charged with leading a revolutionary movement in Venezuela, was crossing the frontier with 20,000 men from Cúcuta, Colombia. No further account of this movement could be learned because mail and telegraphic communications with Cúcuta were suspended the following day. Large shipments of powder and arms have been received at Port San Carlos at Maracaibo.

At Willemstad a wireless station has been established so that uninterrupted service can now be secured. The last direct practice of the Dutch warships showed 75 per cent of hits, while the vessels were making a speed of 12 knots.

WOMAN HELD

SHE IS SUSPECTED OF HAVING SET A FIRE

OLDTOWN, Me., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Alida Tourtellotte of this city was taken in custody at 6:30 last night by City Marshal D. E. Fernandez, at her home on Middle street. She is charged with setting the fire at the Northport camp-ground on Wednesday forenoon, causing a loss of $10,000 and threatening the entire property on the campground.

The woman admitted she was on the campground Wednesday. She was taken to a hotel for the night and has agreed to go to Belfast for a preliminary hearing without a warrant.

CHINESE SMUGGLED

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 2.—Suspected of having engaged in smuggling from Mexico to the United States, the American schooner Freddie W. Alton of Boston, is detained here by the customs officials. Captain Daly, master of the vessel, disappeared when the investigation began. The Alton sailed from Boston, September 1, steering straight for the Mexican coast, remaining off Vera Cruz for about 15 days and then proceeding to Pensacola. The vessel carries a crew of 12 men.

REV. A. E. KENYON

Will Leave Chelmsford Street Church

LETTER OF RESIGNATION READ YESTERDAY

Rev. Martin Preaches on "How to Vote" Brooklyn Pastor in Pulpit at St. Anne's—Other Church News.

Another Lowell pastor has resigned. From his pulpit in the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church, Sunday morning, Rev. A. E. Kenyon advised his people of his intentions. His letter of resignation was read directly after the close of his sermon. The letter was as follows:

Dear Brethren—

Nearly nine and a half years have elapsed since you called me to serve as pastor of this church and through these years we have toiled together harmoniously for the building up of Christ's kingdom in this part of the Lord's vineyard.

The years have been tinged with sorrow and joy, with weakness and strength, with failure and triumph, but in a very true sense to the life of the pastor they have been years of exceeding happiness.

One of the unhappy features of a pastor's life is that which is found in the very nature of Christian, ministerial work which makes practicable the official resignation of a pastor when after a term of service the kind of work can so easily be served best by such resignation. Oftentimes such conviction comes when the fellowship between pastor and people is most richly enjoyed and when the associations seem most pleasant and the ties of Christian love strongest, all of which makes the occasion of separation the more painful.

Believing, however, in a guiding Providence who shapes the course of every true minister, and after a serious consideration of all that relates to the best interests of this church, I feel that a severing of the present ties that bind us officially, as pastor and people, will ultimately prove profitable to the cause of our common master.

Accordingly, I herewith tender my resignation as pastor of the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church, the same to take effect December 27, 1908. In taking this step, I wish at the same time to express my high appreciation of all the kindnesses which have been shown me, both in shadow and in sunshine, by people of the church and of the community during these years of fellowship and service and to give assurance of my prayers for your future prosperity and happiness.

Yours in Christian fellowship, Albert E. Kenyon.

Mr. Kenyon's plans after the close of his work here are not definitely decided upon. Before coming to the Chelmsford Street church, Mr. Kenyon was pastor of the Free Baptist church in North Scituate, R. I., and his present is his second pastorate. He came to the Chelmsford Street church in June, 1899.

Kirk Street Church

At the Kirk Street church, last night, the pastor, Rev. Dr. George E. Martin, held for his sermon subject "How to Vote."

In part, he said:

"The same crowd which sent out words of sympathy to Jesus, cried out in the court, 'Crucify him.' The crowd is a very dangerous guide."

"Every man who faces a great crisis should make of himself an Australian bush, to take into account and render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God the things which are God's."

"We are facing a national crisis. I am laying down the principles of individual responsibility as against a multitude of party."

"There are several multitudes of parties in this election. If we vote with such a party simply because it is our party, we are doing a great wrong. That man who follows a party, is following a multitude to do wrong."

"One of these parties stands as does the opposition party in England. In the center of this multitude is a crowd of selfish men. He who votes for this party simply because it is his party, is stultifying his manhood."

St. Anne's Church

At St. Anne's church, Sunday night, Rev. Frederick W. White, of Brooklyn, N. Y., preached on "Faith." His text was from II Timothy, 4:7. His text was a good thing, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

These words were almost certainly a part of the last epistle written by St. Paul. His work was practically finished at that time. Nothing remained but the sign and the seal on his death warrant, at the time of the writing of this epistle. Never did man die with greater composure than did he.

He speaks of the crown of righteousness being laid up for him. Why was he so sure of that crown? Without regrets, was it because he had done no wrong in his life, was it because he considered that his life mission had been fulfilled? No; none of these. It was because he believed in the love and mercy and promises of God. He had kept the faith, his own faith, strong, unperverted during the trials of his stormy life.

"Everything, according to St. Paul, depends upon faith. Dost thou believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God? So must the church ever cross-examine. Dost thou believe him incarnate? If so, then thou hast the secret of faith. To keep the faith is to do things in life to exemplify it. In thought, speech and action. Some there are who keep their faith as they do their insurance policies, signed and sealed and locked in their safes, need only after death. Faith is not like old wine, which improves by being bottled up in the dark. Divine truths decay unless brought into exercise. Only as we live these truths can we be said to believe in them at all and to say at last: 'I have kept that which thou hast committed unto me.'"

APPEALS TO LABOR

Pres. Compers Asks All Workingmen to Vote for Bryan

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made his final appeal to organized labor last night to support the candidacy of Wm. J. Bryan.

In an address extending over two hours Mr. Compers dealt in detail with the labor issues of the campaign and in his peroration asked with all the feeling he could put into words that the support of labor be given to Mr. Bryan next Tuesday.

Grand Central palace, where the meeting was held was crowded to its capacity and at the conclusion of Mr. Compers' speech there was a storm of applause.

In the course of his address Mr. Compers declared that Wm. H. Taft, in a speech at Buffalo last Friday night, had endeavored to misrepresent the cause of labor and to deceive laboring men into the belief that prominent labor leaders were "falling away from Mr. Compers in his effort to pledge the labor vote to the democratic party"—this quoted phrase being included in a paragraph from Mr. Taft's Buffalo speech, which Mr. Compers read.

After reading this paragraph Mr. Compers said:

"Then Mr. Taft mentioned the names of John Mitchell, James Duncan, Max Morris and Daniel J. Keefe as men who were falling away from Mr. Compers."

"Yesterday I sent telegrams to John Mitchell and to James Duncan. I did not send telegrams to Morris or Keefe. I will now read you the answers:

"Quincy, Mass., Oct. 31. 'I have not changed in thought, word or deed since our Washington executive meeting when our circular was drawn up and approved by the whole council. Any statement by any party stating differently is without authority from me, nor do I expect to change my views. You are at liberty to use this in any way you see fit.' (Signed) James Duncan."

"The next telegram is dated Chicago, October 31, and reads:

"The telegram giving what purports to be an extract from a speech made by Taft at Buffalo last night is at hand. His statement so far as relates to me conveys a wrong impression. I am in full sympathy and accord with the policy of the American Federation of Labor as promulgated and outlined by the executive council."

(Signed) John Mitchell."

Mr. Compers read a telegram of similar purport from Max Morris, of Denver, Colo.

Mr. Compers read two other telegrams, one from the branch of the American Federation of Labor at Louisville, Ky., and the other from the branch at Fort Wayne, Ind. Both telegrams informed Mr. Compers that the branches had endorsed Mr. Compers' policy.

The telegrams and peroration were the two striking features of the labor leader's speech. Mr. Compers was in such great earnest that he implored the enthusiastic audience not to interrupt him with applause, saying:

"I want to appeal to your conscience and your judgment, not to your enthusiasm. The appeal I make tonight I hope will not pass away like an ordinary appeal. I want you to remember what I say not until next Tuesday, but until justice has been secured for labor."

Mr. Compers attacked Judge Taft for what he termed his "unfair and terribly injurious labor injunctions," described the campaign that had been conducted to secure recognition at the republican and democratic conventions, endeavored to show that the democratic convention had dealt more fairly than the republicans with the appeal of labor, and ended by saying:

"I appeal to you on this coming Tuesday to cast your ballots as to express your demand for justice for labor. I appeal to you to so cast your ballots that on the fourth of March next we shall place in the president's chair that great commoner, that great champion of American rights, that character who will live so long in the minds of American men as 'Liberty' shall be a principle of our freedom. I appeal to you for the home, the fireside, for the destinies of American men for human virtue, I appeal to you to cast your votes for William Jennings Bryan."

Senator Hibbard's Record Means His Re-Election

Self-Made Man From Eighth District Entitled To a Second Term—A Sketch Of His Life.

Senator Joseph H. Hibbard of the Eighth Middlesex district, has made an energetic campaign for a second term, despite the fact that the district is strongly republican, and the voters everywhere believe that one good term deserves another.

Senator Hibbard has an enviable record as a legislator for the Eighth district. While he served two terms as representative in 1895-1896, and did splendid work in that capacity, it remained for him to make his real record as a legislator this year as senator. Few men at the state house have made more friends than "genial Joe" Hibbard, and no man ever went to the state house from Lowell in a senatorial capacity who was able to advance legislation favorable to his district more rapidly than Mr. Hibbard. The measure authorizing the great automobile race in Lowell is one evidence of Mr. Hibbard's ability to work effectively at the state house.

SENATOR JOSEPH H. HIBBARD.

Appreciating the great gain to come to Lowell by such a race, Senator Hibbard went to the front and in characteristic style sent the measure along, stage after stage, until it was enacted. This took only forty-eight hours.

Senator Hibbard was born in Richville, Vt., and his lived in Lowell practically all of his life. He lost a leg when only 17 years old, but this did not discourage him. Manfully he went to work, and despite his misfortune, persevered and prospered. All the while he was studying the violin, and in time, he became proficient in the playing of that instrument. Eventually he came to Lowell and in this city organized the famous Hibbard's orchestra.

In 1895, Mr. Hibbard was elected to the legislature as representative and in 1896 he was re-elected. He was elected to the senate last year, and his term of service thus far has rounded off entirely to his credit. Among the many measures advocated by the popular senator were:

One-Day's Rest-in-Seven Bill. The Peaceful Picketing Bill. Bill to allow cities and towns to pension certain employees who are veterans of the Civil war.

Bill regulating the issuance of injunctions. Bill providing for public hearings in cases of grievances between employer and employee.

Bill limiting the hours of labor for minors and women. Senator Hibbard was also largely responsible for the establishment of a workshop for the blind, which is under the direction of the Massachusetts Commission, at corner of Central and Prescott streets, Lowell.

Mr. Hibbard is a charter member of Lowell lodge Elks. He is also a member of Passaconaway Tribe of Red Men, the Centralville Odd Fellows, Court Garin, Foresters of America, Lowell Musicians' Union, New England Order of Protection and Citizens American.

In view of the splendid record made by Senator Hibbard, he has every right to the support of the voters in the Eighth senatorial district.

DEFENDS BRYAN BOMB THROWING

He Never Called Workingmen "Beggars" Caused Excitement in Waltham

PITTSBURG, Nov. 2.—Simon Burns, president of the Window Glass Workers' National organization, in an open letter to Chairman Mack of the democratic national committee, made public last night, denies that Mr. Bryan made the assertion that union laborers were "public beggars" or any similar statement at the time the glass workers sent a committee before the ways and means committee of congress to urge tariff schedules in the interests of the window glass workers.

The letter states that James Campbell, a former president of the organization, who, in affidavits, charges Mr. Bryan with making the opprobrious statement, was a member of the committee and includes an affidavit by Mr. Burns, reciting the hearing accorded the committee stating it was in every way treated courteously.

PLACED IN TOMB

FUNERAL OF THE LATE JOHN W. HUTCHINSON

LYNN, Nov. 2.—The funeral service over the body of the late John W. Hutchinson, held at the family residence at High Rock, yesterday afternoon, was attended by many friends of the famous singer, among these being former Attorney General Albert L. Pillsbury, who from boyhood has known and esteemed "the bard of High Rock." A sermon by Rev. V. A. Cooper of Boston and the rendition by a male quartet of some old familiar hymns, including "Federal Street," which was especially a favorite of Mr. Hutchinson, made up the simple service.

The body was removed for temporary keeping to the receiver's tomb at Pine Grove cemetery. Whether the final resting place of the body will be the Hutchinson family burying ground at Milford, N. H., or the old Eastern burying ground in this city has not been decided. Mr. Hutchinson owned a lot in the last named cemetery, but that has been closed to burials, so that special action by the city council will be required to permit the body to be deposited there.

The will of the singer was not read yesterday, though its contents are known, the estate estimated at $200,000 being bequeathed to members of the family and the widow, the latter receiving one-fourth.

CREW RESCUED

SCHOONER LULIE L. POLLARD BURNED AT SEA

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The steamer Admiral Schley, which arrived last night from Port Antonio, had on board the captain and crew of the schooner Lullie L. Pollard, which was found for New York from Fernandina, with a cargo of lumber, and which was burned at sea Saturday night, Saturday afternoon, according to Captain Powell, of the Pollard, the steward struck a match in the engine room to light the side lights when there was an explosion which set fire to the entire forward house, obtaining two tanks of gasoline.

The fire spread rapidly and the seamen were forced to flee to the stern without saving any of their effects. The timely arrival of the steamer Admiral Schley saved the crew from almost certain death.

The Ghost Walked

The Epworth league of the Highland M. E. church held a Halloween party in the church vestry Saturday evening and all hours were hours for ghosts and the ghosts sang songs. The affair was planned by the social department of the league, consisting of Miss Edith Harrison, Almon Gauthier, Miss Annie Phillips, Miss Carrie Phillips, Walter Leach, Miss Catherine Carter, Miss Sallie Burgess.

Girls' Friendly Society

The annual corporate communion of the Girls' Friendly society of St. John's Episcopal church, took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Twenty-five members of the society received communion. Rev. L. C. Manchester administered it. At 10:30 o'clock, parish communion took place. In the evening there was a special musical service, with a sermon preached by Dr. Manchester.

SAFE BREAKERS

Got $4,000 Worth of Jewelry.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Safe breakers entered the jewelry store of Samuel J. Hahn, at 1050 Washington street, some time early yesterday and smashed the safe with nitro glycerine, secured $4,000 worth of jewelry and made their escape. A bag containing diamonds valued at $15,000 was overlooked by the thieves.

Two white men, one believed to be a professional safe breaker known to the police, and a colored man, have been seen about the store the past week and the police are seeking the trio as suspects.

CHINESE DINNER

ENJOYED BY MEN OF THE AMERICAN FLEET

AMOY, Nov. 2.—Two thousand men of the second squadron of the American fleet were allowed to land yesterday and were served at the reception grounds with a European luncheon and a Chinese dinner. The men, however, are showing great disappointment because they are not permitted to leave the grounds, restrictions having been placed on them because the authorities do not believe that the city is yet free from cholera and plague.

Admiral Sahl, of the Chinese navy, yesterday gave a luncheon in honor of Rear-Admiral Emory and the fleet commanders.

One of the features of the day was a tea served in the temple at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which the officers and prominent foreign residents were present.

The baseball team from the Kentucky Saturday defeated the team from the Virginia.

NEW YORK IN DOUBT BRYAN CONFIDENT

Democrats and Republicans Both Claim the Empire State

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The last turn was given today to the political wheel of 1908. With the opening of the polls less than twenty-four hours away the leaders of the two great parties are giving their attention to the last details of what has been one of the most interesting campaigns in many years. Mr. Taft speaks this afternoon in Cleveland and tonight winds up his fight for the presidency at Youngstown, going then to Cincinnati to vote and hear the results of the balloting. Mr. Bryan is touring Northwestern Kansas and expects to reach his home in Lincoln tonight. He will get the returns over a special wire which has been run into his farm at "Fairview."

There was no change today in the announced estimates of the opposing national chairmen. Mr. Hitchcock of the republican committee holding steadfast to his forecast of 335 votes for Taft and Mr. Mack of the democratic committee announcing himself as equally certain that Mr. Bryan will receive 333 of the 483 votes in the electoral college.

The last day of the campaign found Mr. Hitchcock early at his office in the Metropolitan tower and he will remain there until twelve o'clock tonight when he leaves for West Newton, Mass., to cast his vote. He will return Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hitchcock sent out last night a series of telegrams to national committee men and to state chairmen giving them their last instructions. Not a single state was omitted. Today the republican national chairman is in telegraphic communication with leaders of the party in all sections of the country. He advised them last night to feel at liberty to consult with him by telephone or over the long distance phone as to any local conditions or details needing his attention. The republican campaign accordingly entered the telegraphic stage today and visitors to headquarters made their errands brief. There were few callers of note, however, as practically all of the leaders who have been here in consultation with the national chairman returned to their respective homes last night to look after local interests on election day.

National Chairman Mack of the democratic party also sent out his final instructions to state chairmen last night and at democratic headquarters in the Hoffman house the same rule as to telegraphic and telephonic communication prevailed.

The republican organization of New York state is making its final bid for votes below the Bronx today. Gov. Hughes is expected to deliver ten speeches in this city before midnight. The local republican leaders have received their instructions from County Chairman Woodruff and from County Chairman Parsons. They are working upon the belief that they will hold the Bryan majority in greater New York to the neighborhood of 80,000 and that Mr. Taft will come down to the Bronx with a plurality from the up-state counties sufficient to overcome the democratic vote in the city and leave a margin of 100,000 in his favor.

The Tammany leaders and local democrats assert that Mr. Bryan will have a sufficient majority in greater New York to more than offset an unusually heavy republican vote from up-state.

The result as to state tickets remains in the balance and the confident claims of success put forth by both sides are apparently based more upon hope than upon definite information. Political observers here declare that there has never been a state election more difficult to forecast and are waiting for the balloting to determine the contest between Gov. Hughes and Lieut. Gov. Chandler. Leaders of both parties agree that Gov. Hughes will run behind Mr. Taft but the republicans say that the difference will not be so great as to imperil the governor's chances for re-election. The democrats assert that Mr. Chandler will have an easy victory. They base this claim partly upon the opposition to Gov. Hughes which developed prior to the democratic party, to the personal popularity claimed for the democratic candidate, up-state and to the historic fact that New York governors running for a second term usually receive a greatly reduced vote.

The best opinion appears to be that the state is in doubt and that only the counting of the votes can be depended upon to determine the result.

FIGHT FOR GOVERNORSHIP

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—The state campaign in Connecticut is winding up in a vigorous fashion, the whole fight being centered on the governorship. Judge Robinson, the democratic nominee, comes out with a prediction that he will win by 10,000 votes. He anticipates that republican disaffection against Mr. Lilley, the republican nominee, has spread to the farmers and that he will win votes from the democrats.

The day's contribution to the literature of the campaign was the publication of the full correspondence between President Roosevelt and Mr. Lilley, over the former's endorsement of a speech made by the latter on the naval bill made in the house in April. This correspondence had been of a personal nature but about two weeks ago Mr. Lilley gave out a sentence from one of these personal letters and as the exact wording was questioned by Mr. Lilley's opponents a very lively controversy ensued.

Under date of Oct. 18, the president, according to the correspondence given out today, authorized the use of the letters as an assistance to Mr. Lilley in his campaign.

BRYAN'S PLURALITY

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2.—Virginia tomorrow will elect ten congressmen of which nine probably will be democratic. In the ninth district chances favor republicans. Bryan's plurality will be about 25,000.

HEAVY VOTE EXPECTED

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—The campaign leaders expected a heavy vote tomorrow. There were no changes in predictions.

CAMPAIGN CLOSE

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 2.—Democratic gubernatorial Candidate Kitchen closed the campaign today with a rally and parade. Republicans centered activity in the eighth and tenth districts.

BOTH CLAIM ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Illinois was claimed by both republicans and democrats today. Chairman West of the

CHAIRMAN MACK SAYS:

"Mr. Bryan will be elected by a landslide. He will carry Maryland and the solid south, with New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, Indiana, Ohio, Delaware, Kansas and South Dakota—a total of 301 votes."

CHAIRMAN HITCHCOCK SAYS:

"We will carry New York, Ohio and Indiana. In fact, Mr. Taft will receive practically the same electoral vote as did President Roosevelt four years ago."

He Says That the Victory is Already Won

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Expressing supreme confidence in his election Tuesday by a surprising margin, both of the popular and electoral vote, William Jennings Bryan left here at 6 o'clock last night for his last trip of the campaign, which will be made today through northern Kansas, concluding on election eve with his victory rally in his home city.

Mr. Bryan told everyone who talked with him yesterday that he believed that the biggest surprise of his lives is in store for the republicans tomorrow. Despite all of the newspaper forecasts and the betting odds, Mr. Bryan is firmly convinced that he is to be swept to office by a great popular wave, and that his vote in states which have been hitherto regarded as impregnable republican is going to astonish the republicans.

This belief of the democratic nominee is genuine. The newspaper forecasts have not had the slightest effect upon his views. Most of these he points out republican state committee asserted that the republicans would re-elect Gov. Denison and would carry the state for the national and state tickets by two hundred thousand.

Chairman Roosevelt of the democratic state committee asserted that the democrats would elect for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and would have a majority in the state of between 60,000 and 70,000.

TO USE VOTING MACHINES

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—The day before election finds both the republican and democratic parties claiming victory in Indiana. Conservative observers are of the opinion that neither party will carry the state by a large plurality. In the hard fought gubernatorial contest between James E. Watson, republican, and Thomas Marshall, democratic candidate, the liberal element has taken an active part in behalf of Mr. Marshall and it is expected that he will make large gains in the cities. On the other hand Watson is thought to be very strong in small towns.

An early estimate of the result in Indiana Tuesday night is thought possible because of the presence of voting machines in 326 precincts.

KANSAS CAMPAIGN

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2.—The close of the Kansas campaign is enlivened by an allegation by William A. White, manager of J. L. Bristow's campaign for senator that the railroads are seeking to elect a democratic legislature and democratic United States senator. The democrats are concentrating efforts on the legislature. H. H. Farrell being their candidate for senator.

FIGHT FOR CONGRESS

GUTHRIE, Okla., Nov. 2.—The largest political fight in Oklahoma is in the first congressional district where B. S. McGuire, republican, seeks re-election with good prospects of success.

As no full state ticket is to be chosen the factional fights that have overflowed into national politics will find no expression tomorrow. All factions are for Bryan and for the re-election of Senator Gore.

BRYAN WILL SPEAK

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—The campaign in Nebraska closes with two rallies in this city tonight. W. J. Bryan will speak from the balcony of the Lincoln hotel while the republicans will hold a rally at the auditorium.

In tomorrow's election the republicans look to the farmers for heavy gains while the democrats expect to pull a heavy vote for Bryan in the cities. The republicans claim the state by 10,000; the democrats by 15,000. Sheldon, republican, is expected to be elected governor.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—The republican state chairman's latest figures are 100,000 plurality in the state for Taft tomorrow and an overwhelming legislative—republican. The democrats say 50,000 plurality for Bryan.

BOTH CONFIDENT

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—The campaign in this state has virtually closed, and both parties are confident. The republicans claim the state by 31,500 and the democrats by 10,000.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Chairman

Andrews of the republican state committee still stands on his prediction of Saturday, that Pennsylvania tomorrow will give Taft a plurality of more than a quarter of a million, while Chairman Dimon of the state democratic committee says that the republican plurality will be greatly reduced over that of 1904 when President Roosevelt received a half million more votes than Judge Parker.

The principal fight in the state is for members of the legislature, the local politicians showing much activity. In some sections party lines have been obliterated in the contest on the liquor question.

IN NEW JERSEY

TRENTON, Nov. 2.—Both the democrats and republicans claim their candidates for president will carry New Jersey, but the republicans back their assertion by stronger figures.

BATTLE OF MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Nov. 2.—With Michigan generally conceded to Taft and Sherman by a large majority, interest in tomorrow's election is largely centered in the head of the state ticket.

BRYAN BY 6000

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Both the leading parties claim victory in tomorrow's election in Maryland, the democrats insisting that Bryan will carry the state by at least 6000 and that they will elect all of the congressional candidates. The republican leaders, however, declare that Taft will surely carry Maryland by a handsome majority. Conservative opinion, however, is that the result will be close.

TO WATCH ELECTION

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Interest in the election tomorrow centres in the probable election of democratic managers to the supreme court to appoint special watchers for Pueblo and Las Animas counties to prevent alleged plans to roll up a vote in majorities by fraud which might change results in the whole state.

WILL VOTE FOR BRYAN

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 2.—Democrats continue to assert that the railroad vote in Wyoming, which went for Roosevelt four years ago, will swing to Bryan this year and carry the state for him. Republicans characterize this claim as merely speculation, and declare they will win. No state officers will be chosen.

Cooking-Ranges

Have More Improvements than all others combined! No other Ranges have these Features:

1. Single Damper (patented), worth the price of the range. One motion controls fire and oven. Saves fuel. Regulates the heat exactly.
2. Cup-Joint Oven Flues. They don't leak heat. They insure better baking.
3. Patented Dock-Ash Grates. They afford a steadier fire—one that will keep over night. They save fuel, time and trouble.
4. Reliable Oven Indicator. Entirely protected from the smoke and steam of the oven.

ELECTION DAY

More Than 500,000 Ballots Distributed by the State Officials

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The ballots to the number of more than half a million for tomorrow's election were distributed by the state authorities to the 150 election districts in the state yesterday. More ballots were printed and each was more extensive than ever before in the history of the candidates. Electoral candidates for the six aspirants for the presidency appear on the ballot together with a long list of legislative and county officers. The voting tomorrow in nearly all the 345 cities and towns will begin at the dawn of day and in the great majority of cities and towns the polls will close at 4 p. m. In a few smaller communities voting will cease somewhat earlier in the day so that it will be a few minutes before 4 o'clock when the first town announces its result.

At the contest in this state is somewhat more spirited than in other of the New England states it is expected that Massachusetts will set the pace in election returns for the rest of the country. This year in the collection and tabulations of the vote a comparison will be made with the vote for president in 1904 and under the usual system an average will be obtained and the result forecasted at an early hour.

An eleven hour effort will be made to maintain interest among the voters in the contest tomorrow. Very little speaking will be attempted but numerous statements in the newspapers, it is expected, will reach the eyes of many voters and supplement that which has already been accomplished on the stump.

A Word to Voters

I Am a Candidate for the Position of

LEADING JEWELER

Of Lowell

I Submit My Platform:
I am opposed to "ways that are dark" in business and favor open and honest methods with the public. I believe in stating values exactly as they are, and advertising only for the buyer's good.
I am in favor of selling only goods of real merit, at prices as low as possible for the safety of continuing in business, looking for any possibility to the larger volume of trade which fair dealing will bring.
I believe in taking trouble to please customers by prompt return of repair orders, careful attention to all orders for work and a real interest in their interests.
I solicit your votes and influence and a visit to my store.

PREMIER BOND

Is Opposed by the People's Party

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 2.—General elections are being held throughout the colony today, following a bitter campaign. The government of Sir Robert Bond is opposed by the People's party, led by Sir Edward Morris, formerly a member of Premier Bond's cabinet. The anti-American policy of Premier Bond in respect to the fisheries has been a prominent factor in the campaign.

HE WILL RETIRE

Von Buelow is Determined to Resign

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—In spite of the fact that Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm visited Chancellor Von Buelow today, which is an indication that the chancellor retains the imperial favor, many rumors are current that the chancellor will persist in retiring as an outcome of the publication of the now famous interview with the emperor that appeared in the Daily Telegraph of London. Various statesmen are mentioned to succeed him. According to the latest report, the health of Foreign Secretary Von Seckow has improved.

NO BLOCKADE

OF THE PORTS IN VENEZUELA ORDERED

THE HAGUE, Nov. 2.—No blockade of the ports of Venezuela by the Netherlands government yet has been ordered or any definite action been taken until the government receives the official text of President Castro's reply to the second Dutch note.
Holland is fully prepared for any naval demonstration, including a blockade, that the circumstances may demand.

Plo di Luca, the Rev. William P. McQuaid of St. James church, Harrison avenue; Francis J. Campbell, clerk of the superior court; the Rev. S. J. Grogan, C. S. R., of the Mission church, Roxbury. The closing scene of all in the long program of centennial ceremonies which have marked the last five days at the cathedral of the Holy Cross was ended last evening.

Well Instructed
Not only were the plans for the march over the route of the parade properly carefully plotted in all details, but every division commander knew exactly what to do in order to prevent congestion and possible disaster when he came to the end of the line at Arlington street and Commonwealth avenue.

There was some confusion at that corner and at times the police had some difficulty in keeping the crowds back. Twice stops were necessary while the mounted police opened a lane for the marchers through the middle of Arlington street and Newbury to Marlboro. Twice also to relieve the crush portions of divisions entered the Public garden opposite the entrance of Commonwealth avenue, instead of continuing with the rest of their columns up to Beacon street.

As the shadows of night began to fall the throng narrowed the path of the marchers so that some companies of division 10 were obliged to reduce their files to fours after they had passed under the eyes of the chief marshal and his staff at Berkeley street and they swung round the corner of Arlington street and marched toward Beacon in a long, thin line. But the police rode back the surging crowds, and when near the end of the division, the Peabody Cadets, escorting the local society, have in sight in their party uniforms, they preserved their line and rounded the corner 20 a breast, winning a burst of applause by their beautiful alignment.

Lowell Was Late
One change in the roster was necessary. The third section of the Lowell special came in late and that put division 12 at the end of the parade instead of up between 11 and 13.

When the last file of division 14 had passed, the people most of whom had stayed in spite of the late hour, began to melt away in the darkness. But a crowd was there on the corner from

Lowell, and they began to ask where the home companies were. An officer rode up and gave a few orders to the policeman at the corner, and soon the word was passed about that "Lowell was coming" and after a delay of 10 minutes they came in sight.

It was exactly 1.30 when the head of the parade reached the end of the route and rode into Newbury street and it was just 5.45 when the final company of the belated 12th division passed the same spot. Some divisions, in the meantime, had swung to the right on Arlington street and some had marched to the left, but each one had a well planned route.

The first division marched out Berkeley clear to Massachusetts avenue, where it was dismissed. The second the South Boston division, marched through Arlington to Boylston and out Berkeley to South Boston. The third division took the opposite direction on Boylston and at West turned upon the common and there disbanded. Division 4 divided, going on Boylston to Tremont and one-half taking Charles street to their waiting trolley cars and the other half going in on Tremont and on to Charlestown.

It was now an hour since the last company of the leading division had passed through Newbury street and division 5 took that street and tramped out to Dartmouth where the ranks were broken. The men from the Newtons, Waltham and Watertown turned the other way on Arlington and entering Beacon street marched out to the Harvard bridge. Division 7 went through Charles street and over to Cambridge.

The remaining divisions took various routes to their special trains at the North and South stations, except division 9, which was dismissed upon the Mall. Division 8 went through Beacon, Charles and Essex streets to the South station. Divisions 10 to 14 passed through Tremont and Washington streets.

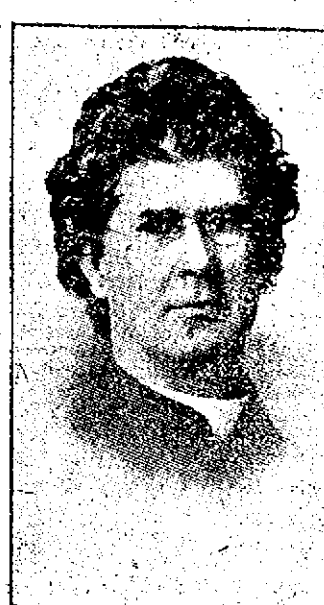

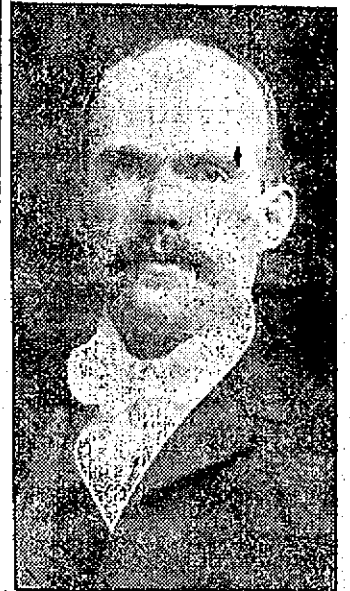

Once at the corner of Arlington and Beacon streets, it looked as if there would be some mix-up and confusion. Divisions 9 and 10 were hurrying out on Beacon street to take their places for the march out Bay State road to the reviewing stand. The head of division 13 came up Arlington and caught a crowd of gazers who had moved out into the street between the two bodies of marching men. But the crowd was scattered quickly, while the men from Lawrence halted, and then the marchers double-quickened into position.

It was just 5 o'clock when the five hill societies marched into Arlington street playing "Home Sweet Home." That seemed to be taken as a signal by thousands of the spectators. From that time, although it was 45 minutes later when the last man filed past the terminus, the people were leaving rapidly.

The Lowell Division
Twenty-five hundred men almost to a man represented Lowell in the great Holy Name society parade in Boston yesterday and their numbers and appearance compared favorably with the representation of any other city in the archdiocese outside Boston. Probably over 1000 spectators made the trip just to see the great parade.

All went to Boston on special trains with the exception of the M. I. Cadets, who journeyed by electric cars. The Lowell societies were to comprise the 12th division but owing to their late arrival in Boston they were there in time to make up the 14th or last division.

The delay in reaching Boston, however, was no fault of the local officers, for their plans were all carried out as far as leaving on time was concerned. According to schedule the local societies were to leave Lowell, the first section at 1.50 o'clock, and the second and third sections to follow as soon after as possible. The first section left the city at 1.45, which was five minutes ahead of time planned but they happened to follow an accommodation train and as a result did not make the trip to Boston as fast as expected. The second section left at 2.15 and the third section a few minutes later.

Upon arrival in Boston it was learned that the Boston officials had miscalculated on the length of time that would be taken and as a result the 13th division was under way when the Lowell men reached the starting point.

Chief Marshal H. J. Molloy and his men followed the line of march, were reviewed by the archbishop and the cardinal and reached the North station where the special trains were in waiting for the men.

The return trip was made without any delay and the first section arrived in Lowell at 1.10 o'clock and the other two sections followed closely. From the depot the men marched to their respective halls, where lunch was served.

Besides the large number of Lowell men in line there were hundreds of Lowell men and women among the spectators. The Boston and Maine provided excellent accommodations under the circumstances. There were no casualties in the Lowell divisions.

PARADE NOTES

The St. Patrick's Holy Name society had more men in line than it was credited with in the general report. It had a complete company and another with about 15 men in line.

St. Peter's military escort, in charge of Capt. J. Henry Gilbride of the High School regiment, received much applause.

St. Peter's Holy Name society presented a unique feature in yesterday's parade, it being a full hat company at the head of the parade.

The fifth company of the Sacred Heart Holy Name society, captained by William Tucker, was the recipient of much applause along the line of march.

Prof. Molloy made an excellent chief marshal.

The Sacred Heart society will hold a special meeting next week, and will present Mr. Owen Farrell with a sword in appreciation of the excellent manner in which he drilled the men.

O. M. I. CADETS
MADE A GREAT HIT IN THE PARADE

The O. M. I. Cadets of this city made a distinct hit in the big parade in Boston, yesterday. The boys wore their blue blouses and white duck trousers, white gloves, blue caps, and carried parade guns. All along the route of parade the boys were cheered and their fine marching called forth many plaudits and most favorable comment. At their head marched Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I., their spiritual director, and there was no prouder man among the 40,000 in line, not even the grand marshal himself, than the hard working young clergyman when he saw the way that Boston appreciated the work of his young cadets. There were 225 cadets in line and music was furnished by the Municipal band. As the boys neared the reviewing stand they formed a moving cross and marched past Archbishop O'Connell, who was greatly pleased and deeply affected by their tribute. The boys marched with soldierly bearing and when the smaller lads put in their appearance, each carrying a gun, walking in perfect alignment, the archbishop's face wore a broad smile of appreciation. The cadets made the trip to Boston and return in special electric cars and were quite a tired, yet uncomplaining lot when they arrived home.

CLOSE OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The campaign is now closed, the issues have all been thoroughly discussed and the voter who has not already made up his mind as to how he shall vote is not to be envied.

This campaign has probably been one of the hardest fought political battles of modern times. It was characterized by decency and fairness on the democratic side, and we might say equally so on the republican side if it were not for the unwarranted and outrageous interference and bulldozing of President Roosevelt. Never before in any election was the publicity of campaign funds made an issue, and in this campaign it has been deftly turned against the republican party.

The campaign fund of that party has always smelled of corruption, and Mr. Bryan showed tact and judgment in turning the light upon this feature of republican methods. For the first time the republican party has been afraid to acknowledge openly the support of the trusts and the combines, although one might as well expect that these large concerns would commit suicide as that they should vote for the democratic party. They are allied with the republican party that fostered them with a robber tariff, and they are afraid of the democratic party which is pledged to a substantial reduction of the trust fostering tariff.

The eve of election finds both parties confident of victory. Conflicting estimates are made by the opposing leaders, each side claiming all the doubtful states as necessary for victory. These are mainly New York, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The ovations which Mr. Bryan received in Ohio together with the defection caused by the Foraker episode is believed to have weakened the republican candidate in that state and given the democrats good ground for assuming that they can carry Ohio.

The outlook for democratic victory seems very encouraging and Chairman Mack still insists that Bryan will be elected by a landslide.

OUR AUSTRALIAN FRIENDS.

The Sun has been favored with several copies of the Australian papers, including the Sydney Evening News and the Sydney Times. The Evening News has a most touching farewell to the American fleet on its departure from that port. The tribute paid to the American fleet, Admiral Sperry and his men is indeed cordial, sincere and eloquent. This may be judged from the concluding paragraph of an editorial that spoke in forcible terms of the personnel of the ship crews. It says:

"Australians are very far from being a demonstrative people; they are, indeed, on the contrary, given to aloofness, not to say stolidity. But it must be confessed that on this occasion they have come out of their shell in a most surprising manner. It was the 'common tie' that effected the transformation. Had our friends stayed with us much longer, one of two things would have happened. Either they would have Americanized us or we should have Australianized them. We can pay neither them nor ourselves any higher compliment. In the southern city to which they are now bound they may, perhaps, receive a more imposing reception. Nevertheless, they may rest content in the sincere assurance that they carry with them from Sydney and the Mother State a whole-hearted amount of regard and appreciation that can never be surpassed elsewhere."

An item in the News would indicate that the bond of friendship that sprang up between the sailors and the Australians was stronger than the occasion demanded, inasmuch as when the fleet sailed away about 80 "Jackies" were left behind.

The item was as follows:

"The American fleet, on taking its departure this morning, went away with fewer 'Jackies' than it brought to Sydney. A large number, from all accounts, had become infatuated with the country, and many stragglers have been left behind."

"So far as can be ascertained, the local police have received information that about 80 men, of different ranks, had failed to rejoin their ships at the appointed time. It may be that some of these either have since turned up, or will at a later stage put in an appearance, but the fact remains that there are many deserters."

It was announced here that there were no deserters when the fleet left, in Sydney, but it seems from the Australian accounts that the men were too deeply infatuated with the country and their reception to rejoin their ships.

It may be that some of the American sailors, confident that Australia will establish a fleet of her own, saw prospects of service under the Southern Cross, more attractive than that provided by Uncle Sam and his fleet.

There can be no doubt whatever that the visit of our fleet was a great inspiration to the far away colonies. This is proved by the fact that in one of the issues of the Sydney News, just referred to, is a map of the United States with a map of Australia overlaid and showing that but for a few awkward projections in our coast line, Australia is nearly as large in area as our own country.

In the centre of this dual map is the following statistical table that is very interesting:

Leading Statistics in round figures.	United States without Alaska and Islands.	Commonwealth without New Guinea.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

LICENSE EXPECTED

Springfield Union: We shall expect to see the city of Worcester vote for license at the next city election because it appears that in voting for no-license a majority of the voters were not actuated by an honest sentiment, but voted as they did for various reasons not connected with the real issue. That at least is the examination of Worcester's no-license vote. But should the city decide to continue the present regime, then it must be regarded as evidence that the explanation offered is wrong, and that Worcester was really governed in this matter by an honest conviction that no-license is preferable to license. By their very nature, prohibitory laws are more or less onerous, and are tolerated only where the benefits derived from them are sufficiently clear to create a public sentiment in their favor.

CLEVELAND ARTICLE A FORGERY

The Commoner, Bryan's Paper: Broughton Brandenburg, the man who sold to the New York Times an article alleged to have been written by the late Grover Cleveland, declaring in favor of tariff as against Bryan, has been arrested in Ohio. He will be returned to New York to answer to the charge of forging Mr. Cleveland's name to the Times article. The republican national committee circulated the Cleveland article throughout the country but has not apologized for it or withdrawn it now that it has been shown to be spurious.

PROTECTING THEIR TREASURER.

N. Y. World: The World is in a position to state positively that George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the republican national committee, was associated with Charles W. Morse in at least one of his ice pools, and, moreover, got out of it with large profits. The World is also in a position to state positively that the documents which show Mr. Sheldon to have been a member of Morse's ice pool and which also show his profits, are in possession of the United States officials who are prosecuting Morse and Curtis. Why Mr. Sheldon was not called to tell on the witness stand of his membership in one of the Morse ice pools, characterized by Judge Hough as "an association of adventurers," and placed on the same level with John F. Carroll, Isaac Guggenheim, John W. Gates and Charles M. Schwab, has not been explained.

TO BUY THE ELECTION

Louisville Courier Journal: Mark how a plain tale shall put all republican professions of integrity to rout and bring shame to every upright republican.

Mr. Nathan Straus, head of the Democratic Business League of New York, in immediate co-operation with the national democratic committee, is a brother of Mr. O'Connell, secretary of Mr. Roosevelt's department of commerce. He is a merchant of the highest credit and a philanthropist who has done incalculable service to humanity. His word would pass anywhere that he is known for as good as the word of most men. He tells us that Mr. George Rumsey, Sheldon is laying Wall street under tribute to the republican campaign fund. Mr. Sheldon denies this. Then Mr. Straus says that if Mr. Sheldon will name three respectable citizens as a court of inquiry he will go before them and prove it. Mr. Sheldon, suddenly refusing to do this, confesses judgment.

BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infantile Eczema Quickly Relieved by External Use of Oil of Wintergreen Compound

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years, at last seems to be curable and curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, hygeol and glycerine, as in D. D. D. Prescription.

The Rev. Lewis Stealey of Weatherbury, Pa., writes:

"My baby boy's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the corners nearly all the time. After using 37 bottles of D. D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way helpful to other sufferers you may publish it."

If you have a child that is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will want to get it cured. We have seen too often how quickly the remedy mentioned above takes the itchy away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent. We have seen this too often to hesitate at all in recommending the remedy for your children.

FINE MEMORIAL

To the Late P. A. Collins Dedicated Today

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Representative citizens of nearly all creeds and political beliefs assisted today in the dedication of a memorial monument erected to the memory of the late Patrick A. Collins. The monument was placed at the entrance to the Fenway at the junction of Commonwealth avenue and the Charlestown and there the shaft was formally turned over to the city by the association which has had the matter in charge.

Archbishop O'Connell opened the services with prayer and former Gov. Long delivered an oration on the deceased mayor's noble traits and greatness. Mayor Hibbard accepted the memorial in behalf of the city.

DIAMOND NOTES

Just before disbanding the New York American league players were talking of the best methods of making money in the off season and each one had given his expert opinion. After the others had finished reciting their successes and failures while trying to trap the elusive coin, the hearty Chesbro butted in with the startling statement that he made money during the winter by the aid of his pen.

This statement came as a bombshell into an otherwise peaceful camp, as anyone knowing the nature of Mr. Chesbro would never regard him as a possible rival to Rudyard Kipling or any of those other literary fellows. When Al Orth had sufficiently recovered from his astonishment he cried out:

"What's that, Jack, about making good money by the aid of your pen?" "I mean exactly what I say," replied Jack, who appeared to be totally unconscious of any desire to mislead the other boys. "Why, I raise more hogs upon my farm than anybody within 20 miles of my place."

And then everybody else looked foolish. The national commission has dismissed the claim of Pitcher Jesse Whiting against the Brooklyn club. Whiting sought to recover $400 owed him. The pitcher signed with Lawrence for $1100 last spring and then looked to the Brooklyn club for the balance of $1500, although there was no agreement.

No exhibition games will be played next spring by the Cleveland club. This innovation in training has been decided on by Manager Lajoie and acquiesced in by President Killfoyle and Vice-President Somers. The Fenwick Breakers will spend six weeks in the south and will jump north to open the championship season. Manager Lajoie, feeling certain that the advantages obtained by staying in two cities will more than counterbalance the practice gained by playing exhibition games.

How can one man have two winning teams in the same circuit? Geo. Tebeau owns the Louisville and the Kansas City franchises. To the Colonels in the land of blue grass and fast horses he promises pennants each spring. But it is impossible to figure it out how he can have two winners. During the season, which ends in September, Louisville finished second, beaten for the pennant by the narrow margin of three games; Kansas City finished a disgraceful seventh.

DRAGGING CANAL

Young Woman Disappeared From Home During Night

A party of men dragging the Pawtucket canal in Thompson's field near Pawtucket street today attracted much attention from passersby, and inquiry revealed the fact that a well known young woman residing nearby had disappeared from her home during the night, evidently while in a fit of somnambulism.

WANTS WARRANT THE HERSEY CASE

"Podge" Murphy Says He Was Assaulted

Frank Murphy, better known to the pugilistic world as "Podge" Murphy, and the hero of many hard earned battles with the gloves, likewise the vanquished one on several occasions, had a run in with a bartender at Noll's place at the entrance to Willow Dale a few days ago. According to the story, as told by "Podge," he went into the place, to save a friend of his from over-indulgence. The bartender, it is said, took offense at something alleged to have been said by "Podge" and he went at the pugilistic "Podge" like a bull at a gate. "Podge" says his eye was blackened and his clothes were torn. He says that he did not try to defend himself because he feared the fellow would turn on him. "Podge" called at the office of the clerk of the police court this forenoon in search of a warrant.

YOUR VOTE

the evidence that you are an American citizen—don't forget all that means—don't undervalue its worth. Cast that vote tomorrow as your own conscience shall dictate—for what you believe is right. Vote for that which in your judgment will keep The Mills of Lowell Running. Don't vote as a Democrat shall tell you and because he tells you. Vote as a manly man should vote. So vote that your children shall not be ashamed and hang their heads and don't vote a Party ticket just because your father voted that same ticket thirty years ago. Times have changed. Remember the words of Pliny: "A nation that comes down as still as snowflakes fall upon the soil; But executes a freeman's will. As lightning does the will of God; And from its force, nor doors nor locks Can shield you—its the ballot-box." In this enthusiasm of the moment we forgot ourselves. LATEST MONSTER PARADE

JAIL SENTENCES

For Men Who Were Found Guilty of Larceny

Louis Gervais was arraigned in court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $1.75 in money, the property of Aurora Thibault.

Gervais was looking for a place to sleep Saturday night and Mr. Thibault who is a rather kind hearted man offered Gervais a night's lodging. After Gervais had enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Thibault, which consisted of a night's lodging and a nice warm breakfast, he saw a pocketbook on the table, and it is alleged, appropriated the contents of the same.

The pocketbook and the money belonged to Miss Thibault and when she returned from church yesterday morning she reported her loss.

Suspicion immediately fell upon Gervais and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. Patrolman William Giroux located Gervais, but the latter denied that he had touched the money and told the officer that he did not have a cent of money on his person. When taken to the police station Gervais' clothing was searched but no money was found. It was then decided to make Gervais do the disrobing act and as the different pieces of wearing apparel were being removed the officer heard a sound like money and the $1.75 was located in the toe of one of Gervais' stockings.

Gervais was found guilty and a fine of $15 imposed, the fine to be paid within three days or else he must go to jail for two months.

Jail Sentence

John J. Flynn stole 24 quarts of pear preserves and 12 glass jars from Mary J. Coffin who conducts a boarding house in Suffolk street and as a result will spend the next three months in jail.

Was Fined $12

Frank E. Bridges pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Mark Hanna and was fined $12.

Sentence Suspended

Charles Rogers was charged with being drunk, but the fact that he has four children caused the court to be lenient with him. He was sentenced to two months in jail, sentence was suspended and he was placed in the hands of the probation officer for one year.

Got Two Months

Patrick J. Burke, who spent the summer working in the White mountains, has been spending his loose change in and about Lowell and was arrested Saturday. It was his third time before the court within a year. He will spend the next two months in jail.

Must Serve Time

Edward Larue was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail. The suspension was revoked and he will be at the Lowell jail for four months.

To State Farm

It was James Dunahy's 16th appearance and his third time before the court within a year. He was sent to the state farm.

On Probation

Owen Taylor was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail and placed in the hands of the probation officer for one year.

The Drunks

John Cavanaugh, Joseph A. Hallwood and Patrick Muddoon, second offenders, were fined $5 each. Five first offenders were fined $2 each and 12 offenders were released.

Fox Appealed

Thomas H. Fox was sentenced to four months in jail for assault. He appealed.

An Informer Trapped

Arthur P. Devlin and Annie McSherry were arrested in a house in Eagle court, off Middlesex street, Saturday night by Patrolmen Cook and Ingalls. The arrest of the couple brought to light a peculiar state of affairs and the man who entered this complaint is now behind the bars as a result of the active part which he took in the case.

A man giving his name as Ernest Turner called at the police station Saturday night and made complaint that his wife and a man were in a house in Eagle court and he desired to have the couple arrested. Several officers were detailed to look into the matter and upon arriving at the house in question they found Devlin and the McSherry woman together. They were placed under arrest and taken to the police station.

The McSherry woman stated that she was not married to Turner, but the latter after the arrest informed the officials that he had married her in Waltham. Deputy Welch started to telephone to Waltham when Turner said "Never mind, we're not married, but we have been living together for about a year and a half." That was what turned the trick on Turner for he was immediately placed under arrest charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation.

In court this morning Devlin and Miss McSherry were charged with fornication and both entered pleas of not guilty. Both were found guilty and Devlin was fined $25, to be paid in three days, or three months in jail, while the case against Miss McSherry was filed.

The other case was that of Ernest Turner and Miss McSherry, charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation since the first of August, 1907. He pleaded guilty, while she entered a plea of not guilty. Probable cause was found and he was held under $400 and jury.

CHIEF MARSHAL MAJOR J. J. LEONARD OF BOSTON.

42,000 Men of Catholic Societies of Archdiocese in Line

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The climax of the five days' celebration of the Catholic centennial was reached yesterday afternoon, when 40,000 Catholic laymen members of the Holy Name society took their share in honoring the centenary of their church as they marched in serried ranks through the streets of Boston.

With enough men in line to make 40 regiments, marching with remarkable regularity, to the strains of martial music played by 100 bands, with the flag of the nation borne in solitary state at the head of each parish society, the Holy Name parade of the Catholic centennial of 1908 was without doubt the largest procession of civilians ever held in Boston. Besides being the largest, it was also the best managed and the best drilled procession in the history of local civic demonstrations.

The weather was perfect parade weather, though a little cool to standing spectators.

Military experts who viewed the parade at several points pronounced the marching of the men to be to them a veritable revelation. Not many well drilled armies, they said, could muster 40 regiments of men in an unbroken line of parade, whose files would be straighter or step more regular than was yesterday's parade from the first order of march till the final company dark.

The man at the head of the parade, Major Leonard, kept his order of march in the line. Looking at his watch at 12:15 yesterday, he turned to his left, ordered him to sound the advance and a second later the great parade was moving.

Toward Archbishop's Home

With a quick step to the time of the leading band, which struck up "St. Patrick's Day," quickly passed into "Adeste Fideles," merging again into "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the mighty host of men headed westward along Beacon street from Massachusetts avenue. From Beacon street the line turned into Bay State road, both sides of which were lined with spectators. At the corner of Bay State road and Granby street is the home of Archbishop O'Connell. An imposing triumphal arch draped with laurel and surmounted by a cross spanned the street at this point. Close by, on land of the archiepiscopal estate, had been erected a substantial reviewing stand, which had in the centre a canopy section for the chief dignitaries of the church. The structure was draped and festooned with bunting of red, white and blue.

The line was passed in review with an "uncovered" salute. Every man brought a white gloved hand to his hat-brim on the order; off came the hats on the next command, and for several paces were held over the left breast—the civilian's salute on parade. Archbishop O'Connell, with Mayor Hibbard by his side, received the salutes standing and with an approving smile as each successive company tendered its greetings.

Marking time, company after company came by in review. The smooth-faced streets of the route were no small factors in the unbroken rhythm of the lines. On came the men in seeming unending stream with ranks of 12 abreast, the banner of the society and the American flag waving in the breeze ahead of each commander.

While the great majority of the paraders were citizens of the Irish race, many sections of the parade were made up entirely of men of German, French, Italian and Portuguese birth or ancestry. A buzz of surprise ran among the spectators as three full companies of colored men came swinging along, the Holy Name banner and American flag fluttering as proudly as any in the line.

"Marched Without Sleep."

The men of the Night Workers' chapel, whose worshippers are post-office officials, telegraph operators, printers, pressmen and writers, not one of whom had got to bed before 1 a. m., their young chaplain, Fr. Lyons of South Boston, at their head, no fewer than nine companies of the night workers, marching as steady and brisk as though each man had had nine hours' sleep, won the admiration of all who knew of their splendid self-sacrifice.

The officers of the men who "marched without sleep" were: Commander, William F. Donovan; staff, F. W. Nicholson, Joseph Jennings, James Mackin and Louis Williams. L. Ford of the 9th regiment, W. M.

Heading the line was the Holy Name society of the Cathedral parish. They made a splendid showing and constituted a fine escort to the procession.

From the standpoint of American national patriotism, there was nothing in the parade, from start to finish, to surpass the inspiring spectacle presented by the men of the Mission parish of Roxbury. Two thousand men with perfect lines, keeping regulation step to the music of the three Mission church bands, made as they passed a veritable moving avenue of American flags.

The effect was thrilling in its patriotic inspiration. It was produced in a very novel and interesting way. The man at the end of each rank carried straight at his right shoulder a tall, straight, white flag, so close and steady were the lines and so steady was the marching that as one looked down Bay State road, from a point opposite the reviewing stand, the advancing double line of national flags made a picture never to be forgotten.

Another imposing contingent was that from the immaculate Conception of Malden, 300 strong.

The South Boston parishes made a doors of the residences were packed with people. And no more orderly, dignified or better appearing multitude of men and women has ever been seen here.

Perfect Order

The police arrangements along the route were admirable. There was need of police protection, except to hold the way clear for the parade. Once there was danger of a jam and its attendant discomfort near the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Arlington street. Police Superintendent Pierce, who happened to be near the spot at the time, took hold of the situation. A few quiet suggestions from the chief to the mounted police was as quietly obeyed and the wedding mass of congestion, which threatened a crush, was relieved.

Every point of vantage for viewing the parade was fully availed of. The gallery erected for the dedication this morning of the Collins monument at Charlesgate and Commonwealth avenue was crowded with spectators. Even trees and telephone poles were tenanted.

House decorations were sparse along the avenue, but of the buildings whose owners put on festival garb the Academy of the Sacred Heart at 255 and the private residence at 132 were most noticeable. Flags were flown from staffs on some of the hotels, while handkerchiefs were enthusiastically waved from several windows as a passing band struck some inspiring tune.

It was a memorable parade. Forty thousand men marched like veterans over the shortest route on record. Seven lines of 10,000 spectators filled the line of march, holding their places for five hours in a piercing November wind. And when night came, finding the marchers still moving, and the banners still waving, the air of the peaceful Sabbath surrounded with the familiar strains rendered by scores of bands of "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." By 6 o'clock the parade was over and its incidents had passed into record as constituting the most remarkable pageant of its kind Bostonians have ever seen.

Big Fire at Rumford, Me., Today

RUMFORD, Me., Nov. 2.—The La-breeque block, a four-story wooden structure on Congress street, occupied as a restaurant and boarding-house by L. F. Schiller, was destroyed by fire today. The adjoining wooden building occupied by the furnishing store of S. Steinfeldt was damaged about 50 per cent. The total loss was $15,000 and there was an aggregate insurance of $20,000. The buildings were owned by M. W. Sanders of Barre, Vt.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Yesterday was the feast of All Saints and the day was observed in the usual solemn manner. There were a great many communicants at the early masses.

The high mass at eleven o'clock in St. Patrick's church was celebrated by Rev. Timothy V. Callahan. A very instructive sermon on the gospel was delivered by the celebrant. Both choirs were in attendance at the mass. The collection for the poor of the parish which was taken up at all the masses realized a considerable amount.

The vespers in the evening was sung by Rev. John J. McHugh. Processional and recessional hymns were sung by the sanctuary choir at both services.

In some of the churches last evening sermons on the feast were delivered by the celebrants of the vesper service.

Today is observed as the feast of All Souls in the Catholic churches and masses for the dead were celebrated in the different churches of the city.

At nine o'clock in St. Patrick's church a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Curtin.

Rev. John J. McHugh was deacon and Rev. Timothy V. Callahan, was sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, rendered the Vatican edition of the requiem mass. At the offertory "Domine, Jesu Christi" was sung. At the close of the mass "De Profundis" was intoned by the choir.

The sanctuary choir was present at the mass and sang the responses. The pupils of both the parish schools attended in a body. Rev. William O'Brien, P. R., was seated within the sanctuary.

The MERRIMACK Invites Comparison of Values With Other Stores In Its Showing of Women's Tailored Suits

—AT—
$25.00

We've been doing the biggest selling in the better grades of Women's Tailored Suits we've ever experienced.

This specializing on high class tailoring and fabrics in well selected models at $25.00 has attracted many new buyers to this store.

We don't neglect the lines at lower prices. The woman whose limit is $15.00 or $18.50 will find at the Merrimack strong values—and our showing of Suits ranges up to $55.00—but at $25.00 we have aimed to produce such a showing of models in classy fabrics and of such expert tailoring as would demonstrate at once our strength at this price.

Lot No. 8053, which we illustrate today, shows a coat 39 inches long, perfectly tailored, lined with guaranteed satin and soft interlining. Choice of the latest plaited and flare skirts finished with deep fold and buttons for trimmings. Materials of extra quality broadcloths in the season's colors. Also fancy worsted mixtures. Price $25.00.

Garments that require altering have the supervision of a skilled fitter, expert needlewomen and a man tailor to properly finish and press each garment.

ELECTION DAY

More Than 500,000 Ballots Distributed by the State Officials

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The ballots for the number of more than half a million for tomorrow's election were distributed by the state authorities to the 350 election districts in the state yesterday. More ballots were printed and each was more extensive than ever before in the history of the commonwealth. Electoral candidates for the six aspirants for the presidency appear on the ballot together with a long list of legislative and county offices. The voting tomorrow in nearly all the 345 cities and towns will begin at the dawn of day and in the great majority of cities and towns the polls will close at 4 p. m. In a few smaller communities voting will close somewhat earlier in the day so that it will be a few minutes before 4 o'clock when the first town announces its result.

As the contest in this state is somewhat more spirited than in other of the New England states it is expected that Massachusetts will set the pace in election returns for the rest of the country. This year in the collection and tabulations of the vote a comparison will be made with the vote for president in 1904 and under the usual system an average will be obtained and the result forecasted at an early hour.

An eleven hour effort will be made to maintain interest among the voters in the contest tomorrow. Very little speaking will be attempted but numerous statements in the newspapers, it is expected, will reach the eyes of many voters and supplement that which has already been accomplished on the stump.

A Word to Voters

I Am a Candidate for the Position of

LEADING JEWELER

Of Lowell

I Submit My Platform:

I am opposed to "ways that are dark" in business and favor open and honest methods with the public. I believe in stating values exactly as they are, and advertising only for the buyer's good. I am in favor of selling only goods of real merit, at prices as low as possible for the safety of continuing in business, looking for any possibility to the larger volume of trade which fair dealing will bring.

I believe in taking trouble to please customers by prompt return of repair orders, careful attention to all orders for work and a real interest in their interests.

I solicit your votes and influence—and a visit to my store.

PREMIER BOND

Is Opposed by the People's Party

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 2.—General elections are being held throughout the colony today, following a bitter campaign. The government of Sir Robert Bond is opposed by the People's party, led by Sir Edward Morris, formerly a member of Premier Bond's cabinet.

The anti-American policy of Premier Bond in respect to the colonies has not been a prominent factor in the campaign.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A very pleasant Hallowe'en party was held Saturday night at the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church in Belmont street. It proved to be a Hallowe'en party in every sense of the word. The interior of the house was very prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and jack-o-lanterns. During the evening games and refreshments were served.

Six Room House at 15 Rockdale Ave.

We will positively sell at public auction on Thursday, November 5, at 3 p. m. this six-room house with about 1000 square feet of land. This property is pleasantly situated in a good neighborhood and is in first class repair, with gas, water, sewer and all modern conveniences. It is in close proximity to all the large manufacturing corporations and would make a good home for some workman. Rockdale avenue runs from Fletcher street, opposite Engine 4 house, to Hovars street. Property will be sold subject to all municipal assessments. Other terms made known at time and place of sale.

Terms: $100 will be required from the purchaser and must be paid the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

HE WILL RETIRE

Von Buelow is Determined to Resign

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—In spite of the fact that Crown Prince Frederick William visited Chancellor Von Buelow today, which is an indication that the chancellor retains the imperial favor, many rumors are current that the chancellor will persist in retiring as an outcome of the publication of the now famous interview with the emperor that appeared in the daily Telegraph of London. Various statements are mentioned to succeed him.

According to the latest report, the health of Foreign Secretary Von Schoen has improved.

NO BLOCKADE

OF THE PORTS IN VENEZUELA ORDERED

THE HAGUE, Nov. 2.—No blockade of the ports of Venezuela by the Netherlands government yet has been ordered or any definite action been taken until the government receives the official text of President Castro's reply to the second Dutch note.

Holland is fully prepared for any naval demonstration, including a blockade, that the circumstances may demand.

MONSTER PARADE

Continued.

Granby street, were: Cardinal Gibbons, Mayor Hibbard of Boston, Bishop Allen of Mobile, Bishop Casey of St. John, N. B.; Bishop Northrop of Charleston, Mr. William Byrne, Mr. Denis O'Callaghan of South Boston; Mr. Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn, the Rev. Peter Roman of Dorchester, the Rev. W. A. Ryan of Newburyport, the Rev. L. P. McCarthy of East Boston, the Marquis de Douthillet-Chavigny, the Rev. Christopher T. McGrath of Somerville, the Rev. Henry A. Sullivan, the Rev. D. J. O'Farrell of Roxbury, Chancellor M. J. Splaine, the Rev. E. J. Moriarty of Cambridge, the Rev. John O'Brien of Cambridge, the Rev. James Doherty of Haverhill, the Rev. P. J. Scully, D. D. of Roxbury, the Rev. Jeremiah F. Millerick of St. Joseph's, West end; the Rev. Ambrose Roche of Watertown, the Rev. William H. Fitzpatrick of Milton, the Rev. Fr. O'Leary, secretary to Bishop Guerin of Manchester; the Rev. Fr. O'Donnell of Roxbury, the Rev. T. J. Murphy of Salem, the Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, director of diocesan charities; Dr. Thomas Dwight of Harvard medical school, Dr. John T. Bottomley, Sig. Plo di Luca, the Rev. William P. McQuaid of St. James' church, Harrison avenue; Francis J. Campbell, clerk of the superior court; the Rev. S. J. Grogan, C. S. R., of the Mission church, Roxbury.

The closing scene of all in the long program of centennial ceremonies which have marked the last five days at the cathedral of the Holy Cross was enacted last evening.

It was the solemn chanting of "Te Deum" by the archbishop and the assembled priests and clergy. An immense throng of worshippers attended the service, which was concluded by benediction of the blessed sacrament.

Well instructed.

Not only were the plans for the march over the route of the parade properly carefully plotted in all details, but every division commander knew exactly what to do in order to prevent congestion and possible disaster when he came to the end of the line at Arlington street and Commonwealth avenue.

There was some confusion at that corner and at times the police had some difficulty in keeping the crowds back. Twice stops were necessary while the mounted police opened a lane for the marchers through the middle of Arlington street and Newbury to Marlboro.

Twice also to relieve the crush portions of divisions entered the Public garden opposite the entrance of Commonwealth avenue, instead of continuing with the rest of their columns up to Beacon street.

As the shadows of night began to fall the throng narrowed the path of the marchers so that some companies of division 10 were obliged to reduce their files to fours after they had passed under the eyes of the chief marshal, and his staff at Berkeley street, and they swung round the corner of Arlington street and marched toward Beacon in a long, thin line.

But the police rode back the surging crowds, and when near the end of the division, the Penobscot Cadets, escorting the local society, hove in sight in their natty uniforms, they preserved their line and rounded the corner 20 a breast, winning a burst of applause by their beautiful alignment.

Lowell Was Late

One change in the roster was necessary. The third section of the Lowell special came in late and that put division 12 at the end of the parade instead of up between 11 and 13.

When the last file of division 14 had passed, the people, most of whom had stayed in spite of the late hour, began to melt away in the darkness. But a crowd was there on the corner from

Lowell, and they began to ask where the home companies were. An officer rode up and gave a few orders to the policeman at the corner, and soon the word was passed about that "Lowell was coming," and after a delay of 10 minutes they came in sight.

It was exactly 1:30 when the head of the parade reached the end of the route and rode into Newbury street and it was just 5:45 when the final company of the belated 12th division passed the same spot. Some divisions, in the meantime, had swung to the right on Arlington street and some had marched to the left, but each one had a well planned route.

The first division marched out Berkeley clear to Massachusetts avenue, where it was dismissed. The second, the South Boston division, marched through Arlington to Boylston and out Berkeley to South Boston. The third division took the opposite direction on Boylston and at West turned upon the common and there disbanded. Division 4 divided, going on Boylston to Tremont and one-half taking Charles street to their waiting trolley cars and the other half going in on Tremont and on to Charlestown.

It was now an hour since the last company of the leading division had passed through Newbury street and division 5 took that street and tramped out to Dartmouth where the ranks were broken. The men from the Newtons, Waltham and Watertown turned the other way on Arlington and entering Beacon street marched out to the Harvard bridge. Division 7 went through Charles street and over to Cambridge.

The remaining divisions took various routes to their special trains at the North and South stations, except division 9, which was dismissed upon the Mall. Division 8 went through Beacon, Charles and Essex streets to the South station. Divisions 10 to 14 passed through Tremont and Washington streets.

Once at the corner of Arlington and Beacon streets, it looked as if there would be some mix-up and confusion. Divisions 9 and 10 were hurrying out on Beacon street to take their places for the march out Bay State road to the reviewing stand. The head of division 13 came up Arlington and caught a crowd of gazers who had moved out into the street between the two bodies of marching men. But the crowd was scattered quickly, while the men from Lawrence halted, and then the marchers double-quickened into position.

It was just 5 o'clock when the 4th and drum corps of one of the Haverhill societies marched into Arlington street playing "Home Sweet Home." That seemed to be taken as a signal by thousands of the spectators. From that time, although it was 45 minutes later when the last man filed past the terminus, the people were leaving rapidly.

The Lowell Division

Twenty-five hundred men almost to a man represented Lowell in the great Holy Name society parade in Boston yesterday and their numbers and appearance compared favorably with the representation of any other city in the archdiocese outside Boston. Probably over 1000 spectators made the trip just to see the great parade.

All went to Boston on special trains with the exception of the O. M. I. Cadets, who journeyed by electric cars.

The Lowell societies were to comprise the 12th division but owing to their late arrival in Boston they were there in time to make up the 14th or last division.

The delay in reaching Boston, however, was no fault of the local officers, for their plans were all carried out as far as leaving on time was concerned.

According to schedule the local societies were to leave Lowell, the first section at 1:50 o'clock, and the second and third sections to follow as soon after as possible. The first section left the city at 1:45, which was five minutes ahead of time planned but they happened to follow an accommodation train and as a result did not make the trip to Boston as fast as expected. The second section left at 2:15 and the third section a few minutes later.

Upon arrival in Boston it was learned that the Boston officials had miscalculated on the length of time that would be taken and as a result the 13th division was under way when the Lowell men reached the starting point.

Chief Marshal H. J. Molloy and his men followed the line of march, were reviewed by the archbishop and the cardinal and reached the North station where the special trains were in waiting for the men.

The return trip was made without any delay and the first section arrived in Lowell at 7:10 o'clock and the other two sections followed closely. From the depot the men marched to their respective halls, where lunch was served. Besides the large number of Lowell men in line there were hundreds of Lowell men and women among the spectators. The Boston & Maine provided excellent accommodations under the circumstances. There were no casualties in the Lowell divisions.

PARADE NOTES

The St. Patrick's Holy Name society had more men in line than it was credited with in the general report. It had 10 complete companies and another with about 10 men in line.

St. Peter's military escort, in charge of Capt. J. Henry Gillette of the High School Regiment, received much applause.

St. Peter's Holy Name society presented a unique feature in yesterday's parade, it being a tall hat company at the head of the parade.

The fifth company of the Sacred Heart Holy Name society, captained by William Tucker, was the recipient of much applause along the line of march.

Prof. Molloy made an excellent chief marshal.

The Sacred Heart society will hold a special meeting next week, and will present Mr. Owen Farrell with a sword in appreciation of the excellent manner in which he drilled the men.

O. M. I. CADETS

MADE A GREAT HIT IN THE PARADE

The O. M. I. Cadets of this city made a distinct hit in the big parade in Boston, yesterday. The boys wore blue blouses and white duck trousers, white gloves, blue caps, and carried parade guns. All along the route of parade the boys were cheered and their line marching called forth many plaudits and most favorable comment.

At their head marched Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I., their spiritual director, and there was no prouder man among the 40,000 in line, not even the grand marshal himself, than the hard working young clergyman when he saw the way that Boston appreciated the work of its young cadets.

There were 225 cadets in line and music was furnished by the Municipal band. As the boys neared the reviewing stand they formed a moving cross and marched past Archbishop O'Connell, who was greatly pleased and deeply affected by their tribute. The boys marched with soldierly bearing and when the smaller lads put in their appearance, each carrying a gun, walking in perfect alignment the archbishop's face wore a broad smile of appreciation. The Cadets made the trip to Boston and return in special electric cars and were quite a find, yet an complaining lot when they arrived home.

CLOSE OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The campaign is now closed, the issues have all been thoroughly discussed and the voter who has not already made up his mind as to how he shall vote is not to be envied.

This campaign has probably been one of the hardest fought political battles of modern times. It was characterized by decency and fairness on the democratic side, and we might say equally so on the republican side if it were not for the unwarranted and outrageous interference and bulldozing of President Roosevelt. Never before in any election was the publicity of campaign funds made an issue, and in this campaign it has been deftly turned against the republican party.

The campaign fund of that party has always smelled of corruption, and Mr. Bryan showed tact and judgment in turning the light upon this feature of republican methods. For the first time the republican party has been afraid to acknowledge openly the support of the trusts and the combines, although one might as well expect that these large concerns would commit suicide as that they should vote for the democratic party. They are allied with the republican party that fostered them with a robber tariff, and they are afraid of the democratic party which is pledged to a substantial reduction of the trust fostering tariff.

The eve of election finds both parties confident of victory. Conflicting estimates are made by the opposing leaders, each side claiming all the doubtful states as necessary for victory. These are mainly New York, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The ovations which Mr. Bryan received in Ohio together with the defection caused by the Foraker episode is believed to have weakened the republican candidate in that state and given the democrats good ground for assuming that they can carry Ohio.

The outlook for democratic victory seems very encouraging and Chairman Mack still insists that Bryan will be elected by a landslide.

OUR AUSTRALIAN FRIENDS.

The Sun has been favored with several copies of the Australian papers, including the Sydney Evening News and the Sydney Times. The Evening News has a most touching farewell to the American fleet on its departure from that port. The tribute paid to the American fleet, Admiral Sperry and his men is indeed cordial, sincere and eloquent. This may be judged from the concluding paragraph of an editorial that spoke in forcible terms of the personnel of the ship crews. It says:

"Australians are very far from being a demonstrative people; they are, indeed, on the contrary, given to aloofness, not to say stolidity. But it must be confessed that on this occasion they have come out of their shell in a most surprising manner. It was the 'common tie' that effected the transformation. Had our friends stayed with us much longer, one of two things would have happened. Either they would have Americanized us or we would have Australianderized them. We can pay neither them nor ourselves any higher compliment. In the southern city to which they are now bound they may, perhaps, receive a more imposing reception. Nevertheless, they may rest content in the sincere assurance that they carry with them from Sydney and the Mother State a wholehearted amount of regard and appreciation that can never be surpassed elsewhere."

An item in the News would indicate that the bond of friendship that sprang up between the sailors and the Australians was stronger than the occasion demanded, inasmuch as when the fleet sailed away about 80 "Jackies" were left behind.

The item was as follows:

"The American fleet, on taking its departure this morning, went away with fewer 'Jackies' than it brought to Sydney. A large number, from all accounts, had become infatuated with the country, and many stragglers have been left behind."

"So far as can be ascertained, the local police have received information that about 80 men, of different ranks, had failed to rejoin their ships at the appointed time. It may be that some of these either have since turned up, or will at a later stage put in an appearance, but the fact remains that there are many deserters."

It was announced here that there were no deserters when the fleet left, in Sydney, but it seems from the Australian accounts that the men were too deeply infatuated with the country and their reception to rejoin their ships.

It may be that some of the American sailors, confident that Australia will establish a fleet of her own, saw prospects of service under the Southern Cross, more attractive than that provided by Uncle Sam and his fleet.

There can be no doubt whatever that the visit of our fleet was a great inspiration to the far away colonies. This is proved by the fact that in one of the issues of the Sydney News, just referred to, is a map of the United States with a map of Australia overlaid and showing that but for a few awkward projections in our coast line, Australia is nearly as large in area as our own country.

In the centre of this dual map is the following statistical table that is very interesting:

	United States without Alaska and Islands.	Commonwealth without New Guinea.
Population.....	50 Millions—23 per square mile	14 millions—14 per sq. mile
Area.....	2,500,000 sq. miles—480 per head	2,500,000 sq. miles—480 per head
Private Wealth.....	50,000 million dol.—1000 dol. per head	2,500 million dol.—1000 dol. per head

SEEN AND HEARD

The sewer in Merrimack square doesn't smell as sweet as the new mown hay.

The Draper machine is a loom.

The oldest English newspaper now in existence is the London Times, which was started in 1785.

A printer's "devil" when he dies, should have erected where he lies. A monument of well-piled type in memory of his "sacred right." And in streaming ink just wrote the words, "A printer's 'Imp' lies here interred."

When a man gets mad about something in the winter time, it is well for him to go down stairs and shake his furnace. It generally needs it.

If a girl doesn't know that she is pretty, she generally isn't.

Mr. Edison says that his automobile will be strong but not heavy. After Mr. Edison gets the automobile perfected, he ought to make a ladder on the same principle.

Don't forget that in order to have a lot of friends, you have got to be a friend to a great many different people.

Even if a man doesn't know anything about poker, he always laughs and looks wise when he hears a "poker" story.

AMEN.

All the world's a ball. And all the men upon it merely players; They have their innings and their field chances;

And each man in his time plays every base. His life being seven stages. At first the infant;

Bawling and piching in his nurse's arms; And then the catching school boy, with his chestnut;

And grating-covered face, playing all day. Too sick to go to school; Then the reporter;

Roasting his furnace, with a woful ball ad.

Made to his masters high-brow: Then an umpire;

Full of strange sounds, and wordless as the wind.

Jealous judgment, sudden and quick in fine.

Seeking the booby reputation Straight from the player's mouth: And then the magnate;

In wide-checked waistcoat, and with check-book lined

Full of laws and ancient instances. Of how he played his part: The sixth age shifts

Into the lean and lippy bleacher-bird: With spectacles on nose and score in hand;

His Wheeling's Pride, well-chewed, a world too wide

For his loose lips, and his big boasting voice. Turning again toward childish treble,

And whistles as he roasts: Last scene of all, Which ends this baated and batty history.

Is second fanishness, and mere oblivion; Fast, fast, fan's talk, fan's dope, fan's everything.

Edmund Vance Cooke in "Success Magazine."

The more ruffles a girl has on her clothes, the less likely it is that she does her own ironing.

If the man who brings a half-smoked stub of a cigar into a closed street car knew what people think of him, he would choose some other way of being economical.

There is one good thing about the girl with the turn-up nose. She seldom tries to turn it more, more, to show that she is haughty.

Every man has his own idea of success—some realized in personal experience.

A lame centipede must be a very pitiful sight, if he is lame in all his legs at once.

A criminal's honest confession is good for the detective's soul.

When opportunity knocks at your door, don't let her find you knocking.

A man gets a reputation for wisdom if he only knows when to keep his mouth shut.

The garage man couldn't get along if he didn't have a telephone. Also a good many automobilists wouldn't get home.

Many a man who has heard his glowing letters read in a breach of promise suit, realizes that, after all, the telephone is cheaper in the end.

Squash has been so plentiful this year that the restaurants are passing it out as a side dish free of charge.

The dog that tries to outrun an automobile may not be mad but there certainly must be some out about him.

The work of remodeling Monument square will soon be finished and let us hope that the beauty of its bareness will compensate for the loss of the shade trees.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

LICENSE EXPECTED

Springfield Union: We shall expect to see the city of Worcester vote for license at the next city election because it appears that in voting for no-license majority of the voters were not actuated by an honest sentiment, but voted as they did for various reasons not connected with the real issue. That at least is the examination of Worcester's no-license vote. But should the city decide to continue the present regime, then it must be regarded as evidence that the explanation offered is wrong, and that Worcester was really governed in this matter by an honest conviction that no-license is preferable to license. By their very nature, prohibitory laws are, more or less obnoxious, and are tolerated only where the benefits derived from them are sufficiently clear to create a public sentiment in their favor.

CLEVELAND ARTICLE A FORGERY

The Commoner, Bryan's Paper: Broughton Brandenburgh, the man who sold to the New York Times an article alleged to have been written by the late Grover Cleveland, declaring in favor of Taft as against Bryan, has been arrested in Ohio. He will be returned to New York to answer to the charge of forgery. Cleveland's name to the Times article. The republican national committee created the Cleveland article throughout the country but has not apologized for it or withdrawn it now that it has been shown to be spurious.

PROTECTING THEIR TREASURER.

N. Y. World: The World is in a position to state positively that George Sheldon, treasurer of the republican national committee, was associated with Charles W. Morse, in at least one of his ice pools, and, moreover, got out of it with large profits.

The World is also in a position to state positively that the documents which show Mr. Sheldon to have been a member of Morse's ice pool and which also show his profits, are in possession of the United States officials who are prosecuting Morse and Curtis.

Why Mr. Sheldon was not called to tell on the witness stand of his membership in one of the Morse ice pools, characterized by Judge Hough as "an association of adventurers," and placed on the same level with John F. Carrigan, Isaac Guggenheim, John W. Gates and Charles M. Schwab, has not been explained.

TO BUY THE ELECTION

Louisville Courier Journal: Mark how a plain tale shall put all republican professions of integrity to rout and bring shame to every upright republican.

Mr. Nathan Straus, head of the Democratic Business League of New York, in immediate co-operation with the national democratic committee, is a broker of Mr. Oscar Straus, secretary of Mr. Roosevelt's department of commerce. He is a merchant of the highest credit and a philanthropist who has done incalculable service to humanity.

His word would pass anywhere where that he is known for as good as the bond of most men. He tells us that Mr. George Rumsey Sheldon is paying Wall street under tribute to the republican campaign fund. Mr. Sheldon denies this. Thereupon Mr. Straus says that if Mr. Sheldon will name three respectable citizens as a court of inquiry he will before them and prove it. Mr. Sheldon, suddenly refusing to do this, confesses judgment.

A TIE GAME

PLAYED BY THE BUNTING AND ANNOVER TEAMS

The Bunting and Annover soccer football teams met on the South Lowell grounds Saturday afternoon and played a tie game, neither side being able to score during the entire contest. The buntings were handicapped by the absence of Rowbottom, the fast centre half.

REV. OLF TRIGLOF DEAD

BEVERLY, Nov. 2.—After an illness of six weeks, Rev. Olf Triglof died here last night at the age of 31 years. He was pastor several years ago of the Swedish Congregational church at Manchester, N. H., and had also served at Plainville, N. H. He leaves a widow and one son.

BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infantile Eczema Quickly Relieved by External Use of Oil of Wintergreen Compound

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years, at last seems to be curable—and curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, infantile eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as in D. D. Prescription.

The Rev. Lewis Stealey of Weatherly, Pa., writes:

"My baby's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the sores nearly all the time. After using 34 bottles of D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way a help to other sufferers you may publish it."

If you have a child that is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will not expect one hour to give your baby the right kind of relief. We have seen two children take the remedy mentioned above takes the itch away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent; we have seen this often to beguile at all, recommending the D. D. Prescription.

POPULAR WRITER

Richard Le Gallienne is in a Sanitarium

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Richard Le Gallienne, the well known writer, is ill in a sanitarium in New York city. Mr.

Le Gallienne is of English birth and is forty-two years of age. His poems, essays and stories have been widely read. Among his most popular works is "The Quest of the Golden Girl."

FINE MEMORIAL

To the Late P. A. Collins Dedicated Today

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Representative citizens of nearly all creeds and political beliefs assisted today in the dedication of a memorial monument erected to the memory of the late Patrick A. Collins. The monument was placed at the entrance to the Fenway at the junction of Commonwealth avenue and the Charles street and there the shaft was formally turned over to the city by the association which has had the matter in charge.

Archbishop O'Connell opened the services with prayer and former Gov. Long delivered an oration on the deceased mayor's noble traits and greatness. Mayor Hibbard accepted the memorial in behalf of the city.

C. E. SOCIETY

The regular monthly meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Street Free Baptist church was held Friday night at the home of Rev. A. R. Toothace, 499 Westford street.

At the conclusion of the meeting a Halloween party was held. Lunch was served during the evening.

DR. KEITH DIED SUDDENLY

BROCKTON, Nov. 2.—Dr. Cary Keith, aged 56 years, director and for many years treasurer of the George E. Keith shoe company of this city, died suddenly at his home today. He was a Mason and member of the Knights Templars body.

DIAMOND NOTES

Just before disbanding the New York American league players were talking of the best methods of making money in the off season and each one had given his experiences. After the others had finished reciting their successes and failures while trying to trap the elusive coin, the heavy Chesbro butted in with the startling statement that he made money during the winter by the aid of his pen.

This statement came as a bombshell into an otherwise peaceful camp, as anyone knowing the nature of Mr. Chesbro would never regard him as a possible rival to Rudyard Kipling or any of those other literary fellows. When Al. Orth had sufficiently recovered from his astonishment he cried out:

"What's that, Jack, about making good money by the aid of your pen?"

"I mean exactly what I say," replied Jack, who appeared to be totally unconscious of any desire to mislead the other boys. "Why, I raise more hogs upon my farm than anybody within 25 miles of my place."

And then everybody else looked foolish.

The national commission has dismissed the claim of Pitches' Jim Whiting against the Brooklyn club. Whiting sought to recover $400 which he thought President Ebbetts owed him. The pitcher signed with Lawrence for $100 last spring and then looked to the Brooklyn club for the balance of $300, although there was no agreement.

No exhibition games will be played next spring by the Cleveland club. This innovation in training has been decided on by Manager Lajoie and acquiesced in by President Kilfoyle and Vice-President Somers. The Fenwick Breakers will spend six weeks in the south and will jump north to open the championship season. Manager Lajoie, feeling certain that the advantages obtained by staying in two cities will more than counterbalance the loss of time gained by playing exhibition games.

How can one man have two winning teams in the same circuit? Gro. Tebeau owns the Louisville and the Kansas City franchises. To the Colorado club in the land of blue grass and fast horses he promises remittances every spring. He puts in the winter months giving Kansas City pennant chasers—on paper. But it is impossible to figure it out how he can have two winners. During the season, which ended in September, Louisville finished second, beaten for the pennant by the narrow margin of three games. Kansas City finished a disgraceful seventh.

ROBBERS AT WORK KILLED BY AUTO

Made a Haul at Mr. Hinckley's Residence Last Night

Burglars entered the home of Mr. William C. Hinckley, 888 Westford street, last night and stole a quantity of jewelry and silver. From the manner in which the burglars proceeded to ransack the house it is very evident that the break was well planned, and that the parties who entered the house were well acquainted with the location of the different rooms.

The house, which Mr. Hinckley only recently purchased, was formerly owned and occupied by Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw, one of the most famous leaders. Mr. and Mrs. Hinckley were at home until six o'clock in the evening when they went out and were gone till ten o'clock. On their return they found that the house had been entered and ransacked from top to bottom and articles strewn all over the floors.

When Mr. Hinckley entered the house about ten o'clock last night everything looked to be all right, but when he passed through the hallway to one of the rear rooms he was surprised to see articles strewn over the floor. A little later he discovered that two windows had been opened by means of a jimmy.

A few minutes' investigation disclosed the fact that burglars had been at work. Every piece of silver in the house had been taken, two gold watches, a valuable pin and numerous other articles. The total amount of the loss could not be readily figured last night, but it was known to be somewhat in excess of $100.

The police were notified and provided with a list of the articles missing. Mr. Hinckley said that he felt certain that two or probably three persons were engaged in the robbery, as two were undoubtedly on the watch for his return while the other went through the house. There was no damage done to the furniture, although there was a good deal of material pushed about as though the robbers were making a hasty search for valuables.

FOUND IN PASTURE

Mystery Surrounds Death of Unknown Man Near Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—The body of a man apparently over 50 years of age was found yesterday afternoon in the Searles pasture off the Conant road, about four miles from the city.

The body was lying on its face. From its condition and the clothes upon it, it is assumed it had been lying there since the middle of the summer or longer. The place was less than a mile from the home of Otis Searles, a florist and market gardener, who lives at the junction of one of the Conant roads and the Conant road.

From the position it is believed the man fell where he was found and died from natural causes. The medical referee is of the opinion that the body had been exposed to the weather nearly a year.

The man was about 5 feet 3 inches tall and had red hair. The teeth were in fair condition, although 12 were missing. No coat or hat could be found. The clothes consisted of a corduroy vest and trousers, a fancy shirt, heavy woolen underwear with a double-breasted shirt, heavy stockings and heavy blucher style shoes, size about 8. The shoes had been tapped. In the pockets were a pipe and tobacco matches and a knife. There were no pictures or anything else to give a clue to the man's identity. Inquiry was made at Mr. Searles' house, which is about four miles from the city, but nothing was known of anyone being missing in that section.

One theory the police has is the possibility that the man may have been an employee of a nearby sawmill and that his disappearance was not noticed. Another is that he may be an aged man named Michael O'Malley, who disappeared from Manchester, N. H., early last spring. This man was wearing a coat and before his disappearance from Manchester was reported as seen in this city.

The discovery was made by George A. B. Leach, who with Christian Allison and Charles Allison had been tramping through the woods in the afternoon. Mr. Leach had his hunting dog with him and when the dog fell the road Mr. Leach called him. He encountered the body in the field about 50 yards from the Conant road.

Upon returning to the city yesterday afternoon Mr. Leach went immediately to the police station and notified Chief W. W. Wheeler. Medical Referee Chas. E. Congdon and the police began their investigation at once.

BLOSSOM CLUB

MET AT HOUSE OF MISS LILLIAN PARESKY

The regular weekly meeting of the Blossom club, an organization of Jewish girls, was held last night at the home of Miss Lillian Paresky in Howard street. Several new members were initiated and numerous applications were acted on.

The social session brought forth an unusual display of talent. The program included songs by Miss Bessie Neyman, Florence Paresky and Rose Cohen. Miss Cohen also favored with piano selections. Games were enjoyed by the prize winners being Miss Cynthia Dworkin and Miss Mollie Green. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Rose Cohen.

DIAMOND RING

WAS PRESENTED TO OVERSEER LOUISEFELL

A. Louisefell, overseer of No. 3 weaver of the Boot mills, who has resigned his position to accept a more lucrative one, was given a royal send-off by the employees of his room Saturday afternoon. A few minutes before the whistle blew to stop work, the employees gathered around their overseer and presented him a diamond ring and box of cigars. The presentation speech was made by James Garvin.

EVENTS AT Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Isabel Garfield Beecher, without doubt the leading lady reader of the country, will appear in the Star Course at the First Congregational church, next week, November 11, Wednesday. The subject, Parsifal, has been so arranged that it will take but one and one-half hours for performance. Miss Tina Mac Hain will be the organist, and Miss Harriet Shaw, the harpist.

Rev. Peter MacQuinn will open the men's meetings Nov. 15th at the Hathaway theatre. His subject will be "Conditions and Life in Central Africa," from which he has just returned narrowly escaping with his life. He rescued his photographer from a crevice and was forced to carry him on his shoulders down the mountain. His talk is illustrated by beautiful views on the stereopticon.

Thursday evening this week Joe Lorrain will entertain the boys. An exhibition of class work will be given at 11 to boys who do not belong and alien the parents and at 8:15 the boys will be entertained by Mr. Lorrain, who is unequalled at this art.

At 8 p. m. he will entertain the employed boys' class, after their gymnasium work is over. His program consists of very comic imitations, dialect songs, with banjo, humorous selections, solos on the hand bells, banjo, cello, xylophone and also whistling.

PEACE WITH THE SYSTEM

Henry Waterson in Courier Journal: Flying the flag of Roosevelt the republican leaders have made their peace with the system. From Rockefeller to Carnegie, from Harriman to Corey, every chieftain of wealth and predatory wealth, the honest too often making common cause with the dishonest, is well content with Taft and Sherman. They forebore and imply the old order of special privilege to the few, impositions of every sort to the many, defiant by its friends, rampant, the end of Rooseveltism and agitation for the good of business—business only, organized capital and business monopoly: the same old story, the same old song, the same old crowd, slicked over with goose grease from the Roosevelt larder, but ravaging four years more of the rascaldom which Roosevelt has unmarked but not downed; which Roosevelt has exposed, but left intact; which, in spite of Roosevelt and all his works, stands today as impudent and as defiant as ever it stood, a gray wolf lurking in the senate, a gray wolf, lordling it over the house, and two gray wolves, Sherman and Sheldon, "Sunny Jim" and "Black George," giving tone and effect to the ticket.

Should any thoughtful democrat, should any patriotic American, should any honest man, balk of his duty before such a layout?

Thos. Brennan's Skull Was Fractured

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—One man was killed and two women injured in a collision between a hansom and a street car at the Brookline street bridge at Cottage Farm yesterday afternoon. Three automobilists refused to take the dying man in their cars to the hospital, although importuned by a witness to the accident.

The man killed was Thomas M. Brennan, 18 years of age, of 9 Linden Park street, Roxbury, driver for the Boston Cab company and stationed at the Hotel Toulaine. The injured women were his passengers in the cab they were touring to Cambridge. They were Mrs. Timothy Hetterton of Providence, R. I., and her daughter, Mrs. Francis Hoge of Nassauville, R. I.

Brennan left the Toulaine with his passengers about 3.30 p. m. and had proceeded as far as the bridge, a new structure passing over the B. & A. tracks, and with a steep decline on the Cambridge side. The street railway also crosses over this bridge.

At the foot of the decline is the Charles river road. Brennan turned there to cross the street car tracks, apparently to turn into the Charles river road, and the outward bound car that had come down the decline behind him struck the rear of the cab, dislodged the wheels, wrecked the vehicle and threw Brennan to the ground. He struck on his head and received a fracture of the skull from which he died within five minutes after reaching the Cambridge Relief hospital, where he was taken in an ambulance.

The two women were severely shaken and suffered from shock.

A GOLD RING

FRANK MOSHER REMEMBERED BY HIS FRIENDS

A very pleasant surprise party took place at the residence of Mrs. E. Belle Mosher of 36 West Meadow road, Saturday evening, when a party of friends called upon Frank Mosher. After Miss Althea Fling explained the object of the visit, she presented the young host with a beautiful gold ring. The recipient responded gracefully with a few appropriate remarks, after which games were played. During the evening Master Chester Mosher rendered a catchy song entitled "The Jack-o-lantern Witch." Refreshments were served.

PELHAM

Fire destroyed the barn and partly destroyed the house belonging to H. Folsie on Gage hill Saturday morning. The fire started in the barn and burned that structure to the ground before much could be done to save the building. The fact that there was a brick chimney blowing at the time and that the contents of the barn was highly inflammable made it an impossibility to save the barn.

The fire was discovered by neighbors and word was immediately sent to the centre and in a short time there was a number of volunteer firemen on the scene.

The barn was a total loss, and with it were burned two cows, nine pigs, two wagons, quite a lot of hay and farming tools. From the barn, the flames quickly spread to the house, and consumed the ell of it, when its course was stayed, but not before considerable damage was done to the main section of the house, also.

It is said the loss will reach $1500 with an insurance of $800 on the property.

DUTCH WARSHIPS

May Establish Blockades in Venezuelan Cities

WILLEMSTAD, Nov. 2.—The Netherlands government fixed Nov. 1 as the limit of time for Venezuela to revoke the decree of President Castro, issued on May 14, prohibiting the transshipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Curaçao. President Castro has refused to revoke this decree, but as yet, so far as is known here, The Netherlands government has not decided upon definite action. There has been much activity here of late, but in an interview yesterday the governor of Curaçao said that Holland ought to have assurance that Venezuela had not revoked the decree at the last hour of the day fixed according to the ultimatum before taking any active measures. He believed that his government had made ample preparations for any eventuality and he added that a statement would doubtless be issued today announcing the position of Holland and Venezuela and what action it was proposed to take.

The opinion is held among naval officers here that no direct steps would be taken within a week. The battleship Jacob Van Heemskerck and the protected cruiser Priantland, which are now in this port, still have on board all the superfluous equipments which would be discarded in time of war. The report is current that Captain Spethlage, who is in command of the fleet, has been promoted to rear admiral.

Saturday evening the governor of Curaçao received an important telegram from Holland, and he at once called a meeting of his council and the commanders of the warships. The deliberations were lengthy, but the result has not been made public.

Advices received by the steamer Zulia from Maracaibo state that it was reported on Oct. 4 that President Castro had ordered the mobilization of 50,000 troops to be ready Nov. 2. Two days later there were rumors that Gen. Nicholas Rolando, who previously had been charged with leading a revolutionary movement in Venezuela, was crossing the frontier with 20,000 men from Cucuta, Colombia. No further account of this movement could be learned because mail and telegraphic communications with Cucuta were suspended the following day. Large shipments of powder and shells have been received at Fort San Carlos at Maracaibo lake, and there is much activity around the fort.

Other advices reaching Willemstad again report the serious illness of President Castro, who, according to the reports, was compelled to take to his bed on Thursday last. There was some talk, too, of a trace of poison having been found in his food.

The residents of Curaçao and other Venezuelan cities look for the blockade to be inaugurated by the Dutch warships this week.

At Willemstad a wireless system has been established so that uninterrupted service can now be secured.

The last target practice of the Dutch warships showed 75 per cent of hits, while the vessels were making a speed of 12 knots.

WOMAN HELD

SHE IS SUSPECTED OF HAVING SET A FIRE

OLDTOWN, Me., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Albina Tourtelotte of this city was taken in custody at 6.30 last night by City Marshal O. B. Fernandez, at her home on Middle street. She is charged with setting the fire at the Northport campground on Wednesday forenoon, causing a loss of $10,000 and threatening the entire property on the campground.

The woman admitted she was on the campground Wednesday. She was taken to a hotel for the night and has agreed to go to Belfast for a preliminary hearing without a warrant.

CHINESE SMUGGLED

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 2.—Suspected of having engaged in smuggling from Mexico to the United States, the American schooner Freddie W. Alton, of Boston, is detained here by the customs officials. Captain Daly, master of the vessel, disappeared when the investigation began. The Alton sailed from Boston, September 1, steering straight for the Mexican coast, remaining off Vera Cruz for about 15 days and then proceeding to Pensacola. The vessel carries a crew of 12 men.

REV. A. E. KENYON

Will Leave Chelmsford Street Church

LETTER OF RESIGNATION READ YESTERDAY

Rev. Martin Preaches on "How to Vote." Brooklyn Pastor in Pulpit at St. Anne's—Other Church News.

Another Lowell pastor has resigned. From his pulpit in the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church, Sunday morning, Rev. A. E. Kenyon advised his people of his intentions. His letter of resignation was read directly after the close of his sermon. The letter was as follows:

To the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist Church:

Dear Brethren:—

Nearly nine and a half years have elapsed since you called me to serve you as pastor of this church and through these years we have toiled together harmoniously for the building up of Christ's kingdom in this part of the Lord's vineyard.

The years have been tinged with sorrow and joy, with weakness and strength, with failure and triumph, but in a very true sense to the life of the pastor they have been years of exceeding happiness.

One of the unhappy features of a pastor's life is that which is found in the very nature of Christian ministry, that work which makes practicable the official termination of a pastorate when after a term of service the kingdom can seem to be served best by such termination. Oftentimes such conviction comes when the fellowship between pastor and people is most richly enjoyed and when the associations seem most pleasant and the ties of Christian love strongest, all of which makes the occasion of separation the more painful.

Believing, however, in a guiding Providence who shapes the course of every true minister, and after a serious consideration of all that relates to the best interests of this church, I feel that a severing of the present ties that bind us officially, as pastor and people, will ultimately prove profitable to the cause of our common master.

Accordingly, I herewith tender my resignation as pastor of the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church, the same to take effect December 27, 1908.

In taking this step, I wish at the same time to express my high appreciation of all the kindnesses which have been so abundantly shown toward the pastor and wife, both in shadow and in sunshine, by people of the church and of the community during these years of fellowship and service and to give assurance of my prayers for your future prosperity and happiness.

Yours in Christian fellowship,

Albert E. Kenyon.

Mr. Kenyon's plans after the close of his work here are not definitely decided upon. Before coming to the Chelmsford Street church, Mr. Kenyon was pastor of the Free Baptist church in North Scituate, R. I., and his present is his second pastorate. He came to the Chelmsford Street church in June, 1899.

Kirk Street Church

At the Kirk Street church, last night, the pastor, Rev. Dr. George E. Martin had for his sermon subject "How to Vote." In part, he said:

"The same crowd which sent out words of sympathy to Jesus, cried out in the court yard, 'Crucify him.' 'The crowd is a very dangerous guide.' 'Every man who faces a great crisis should make of himself an Australian booby, to take into account and render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God the things which are God's.' 'We are facing a national crisis. I am laying down the principles of individual responsibility as against a multitude or party.' 'There are several multitudes or parties in this election. If we vote with such a party simply because it is our party, we are doing a great wrong. That man who follows a party, is following a multitude to do wrong.' 'One of these parties stands as does the opposition party in England. In the center of this multitude is a crowd of selfish men. He who votes for this party simply because it is his party, is stultifying his manhood.'"

St. Anne's Church

At St. Anne's church, Sunday night, Rev. Frederick W. White of Brooklyn, N. Y., preached on "Faith." His text was from II Timothy, 4:7: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." He said, in part:

"These words were almost certainly a part of the last epistle written by St. Paul. His work was practically finished at this time. Nothing remained but the sign and the seal on his death warrant, at the time of the writing of this epistle. Never did man face death with greater composure than did he."

He speaks of the crown of righteousness which he laid up for him. Why was he so sure of that crown? Was it because he had lived his life without regrets, was it because he had done no wrong in his life, was it because he considered that his life mission had been fulfilled? No; none of these. It was because he believed in the love and mercy and promises of God. He had kept the faith, his own faith, strong, unperverted during the trials of his stormy life.

"Everything, according to St. Paul, depends upon faith. Dost thou believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God? So must the church ever cross-examine. Dost thou believe him incarnate? If so, then thou hast the secret of faith. To keep the faith is to defend it. To keep the faith, above all things is to live it, to exemplify it in thought, speech and action. Some are who keep their faith as they do their insurance policies, signed and sealed and locked in their safes, needed only after death. Faith is not like old wine, which improves by being bottled up in the dark. Divine truth decays unless brought into exercise. Only as we live these truths can we be said to believe in them at all and to say at last: 'I have kept that which thou hast committed unto me.'"

APPEALS TO LABOR

Pres. Gompers Asks All Workingmen to Vote for Bryan

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor made his final appeal to organized labor last night to support the candidacy of Wm. J. Bryan. In an address extending over two hours Mr. Gompers dealt in detail with the labor issues of the campaign and in his peroration asked with all the feeling he could put into words that the support of labor be given to Mr. Bryan next Tuesday.

Grand Central place, where the meeting was held was crowded to its capacity and at the conclusion of Mr. Gompers' speech there was a storm of applause.

In the course of his address Mr. Gompers declared that Wm. H. Taft, in a speech at Buffalo last Friday night, had endeavored to misrepresent the cause of labor and to deceive laboring men into the belief that prominent labor leaders were "falling away from Mr. Gompers in his effort to pledge the labor vote to the democratic party"—this quoted phrase being included in a paragraph from Mr. Taft's Buffalo speech, which Mr. Gompers read.

After reading this paragraph Mr. Gompers said:

"Then Mr. Taft mentioned the names of John Mitchell, James Duncan, Max Morris and Daniel J. Keefe as men who were 'falling away from Mr. Gompers.'"

"Yesterday I sent telegrams to John Mitchell and to James Duncan. I did not send telegrams to Morris or Keefe. I will now read you the answers:

"Quincy, Mass., Oct. 31.

"I have not changed in thought, word or deed since our Washington executive meeting when our circular was drawn up and approved by the whole council. Any statement by any party stating differently is without authority from me, nor do I expect to change my views. You are at liberty to use this in any way you see fit."

"(Signed) James Duncan."

"The next telegram is dated Chicago, October 31, and reads:

"Your telegram giving what purports to be an extract from a speech made by Taft at Buffalo last night is at hand. His statement so far as re-

Senator Hibbard's Record Means His Re-Election

Self-Made Man From Eighth District Entitled To a Second Term—A Sketch Of His Life.

Senator Joseph H. Hibbard of the Eighth Middlesex district has made an energetic campaign for a second term, despite the fact that the district is strongly republican, and the voters everywhere believe that one good term deserves another.

Senator Hibbard has an enviable record as a legislator for the Eighth district. While he served two terms as representative in 1905-1906, and did splendid work in that capacity, it remained for him to make his real record as a legislator this year as senator. Few men at the state house have made more friends than "genial Joe" Hibbard, and no man ever went to the state house from Lowell in a senatorial capacity who was able to advance legislation favorable to his district more rapidly than Mr. Hibbard. The measure authorizing the great automobile race in Lowell is one evidence of Mr. Hibbard's ability to work effectively at the state house.

SENATOR JOSEPH H. HIBBARD.

Appreciating the great gain to come to Lowell by such a race, Senator Hibbard went to the front and in characteristic style sent the measure along, stage after stage, until it was enacted. This took only forty-eight hours.

Senator Hibbard was born in Richville, Vt., and his lived in Lowell practically all of his life. He lost a leg when only 17 years old, but this did not dishearten him. Manfully he went to work, and despite his misfortune, persevered and prospered. At the while he was studying the violin, and in time, he became proficient in the playing of that instrument. Eventually he came to Lowell and in this city organized the famous Hibbard's orchestra.

In 1905, Mr. Hibbard was elected to the legislature as representative and in 1906 he was re-elected. He was elected to the senate last year, and his term of service thus far has rebounded entirely to his credit. Among the many measures advocated by the popular senator were:

One-Day's Rest-in-Seven Bill.

The Peaceful Picketing Bill.

Bill to allow cities and towns to pension certain employees who are veterans of the Civil war.

Bill regulating the issuance of injunctions.

Bill providing for public hearings in cases of grievances between employer and employee.

Bill limiting the hours of labor for miners and women.

Senator Hibbard was also largely responsible for the establishment of a workshop for the blind, which is under the direction of the Massachusetts Commission, at corner of Central and Prescott streets, Lowell.

Mr. Hibbard is a charter member of Lowell lodge Elks. He is also a member of Passaconaway Tribe of Red Men, the Centralville Odd Fellows, Court Garin, Foresters of America, Lowell Musicians' Union, New England Order of Protection and Citizens American.

In view of the splendid record made by Senator Hibbard, he has every right to the support of the voters in the Eighth senatorial district.

DEFENDS BRYAN BOMB THROWING

He Never Called Workingmen "Beggars"

PITTSBURG, Nov. 2.—Simon Burns, president of the Window Glass Workers' National organization, in an open letter to Chairman Mack of the democratic national committee, made public last night, denies that Mr. Bryan made the assertion that union laborers were "public beggars" or any similar statement at the time the glass workers sent a committee before the ways and means committee of congress to urge tariff schedules in the interests of the window glass workers. The letter states that James Campbell, a former president of the organization, in affidavits, charges Mr. Bryan with making the opportunistic statement that was a member of the committee and includes an affidavit by Mr. Burns, reciting the hearing accorded the committee stating it was in every way treated courteously.

SAFE BREAKERS

Got $4,000 Worth of Jewelry

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Safe breakers entered the jewelry store of Samuel J. Hahn, at 1050 Washington street, some time early yesterday and smashed the safe with nitro glycerine, secured $4000 worth of jewelry and made their escape. A bag containing diamonds valued at $15,000 was overlooked by the thieves.

Two white men, one believed to be a professional safe breaker known to the police, and a colored man, have been seen about the store the past week and the police are seeking the trio as suspects.

CHINESE DINNER

ENJOYED BY MEN OF THE AMERICAN FLEET

AMOY, Nov. 2.—Two thousand men of the second squadron of the American fleet were allowed to land yesterday and were served at the reception grounds with a European luncheon and a Chinese dinner. The men, however are showing great disappointment because they are not permitted to leave the grounds, restrictions having been placed on them because the authorities do not believe that the city is yet free from cholera and plague.

Admiral Sah, of the Chinese navy, yesterday gave a luncheon in honor of Rear Admiral Enbery and the fleet commanders.

One of the features of the day was a tea served in the temple at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which the officers and prominent foreign residents were present.

The baseball team from the Kentucky Saturday defeated the team from the Virginia.

DEFENDS BRYAN BOMB THROWING

Caused Excitement in Waltham

WALTHAM, Nov. 2.—Detectives have been called in and the police are hard at work to solve the mystery of the throwing of the bomb, which late Saturday night exploded in front of the home of Dr. Edmund R. P. Fournier at 51 Grant street.

The bomb tore a hole in the concrete leading to the side entrance of the doctor's office, broke many windows in the house and surrounding buildings, tore off samples and destroyed many bottles of medicine and such apparatus inside Dr. Fournier's office.

Dr. Fournier can offer no solution as to the cause of the attack, and as yet the police have found no clue to the perpetrators or evidence as to the exact nature of the bomb employed.

CHOKED TO DEATH

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Timothy Daly of Charlestown choked to death in a restaurant yesterday while eating steak. He was 55 years old.

PLACED IN TOMB

FUNERAL OF THE LATE JOHN W. HUTCHINSON

LYNN, Nov. 2.—The funeral service over the body of the late John W. Hutchinson, held at the family residence at High Rock, yesterday afternoon, was attended by many friends of the famous singer, among these being former Attorney General Albert E. Pillsbury, who from boyhood has known and esteemed "The Bard of High Rock." A sermon by Rev. V. A. Cooper of Boston and the rendition by a male quartet of some old familiar hymns, including "Federal Street," which was especially a favorite of Mr. Hutchinson, made up the simple service.

The body was removed for temporary keeping to the receiver's tomb at Pine Grove cemetery. Whether the final resting place of the body will be the Hutchinson family burying ground at Milford, N. H., or the old Eastern burying ground in this city has not been decided.

Mr. Hutchinson owned a lot in the last named cemetery, but that has been closed to burials, so that special action by the city council will be required to permit the body to be deposited there.

The will of the singer was not read yesterday, though its contents are known, the estate estimated at $50,000, being bequeathed to members of the family and the widow, the latter receiving one-fourth.

CREW RESCUED

SCHOONER LULIE L. POLLARD BURNED AT SEA

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The steamer Admiral Schley, which arrived last night from Port Antonio, had on board the captain and crew of the schooner Lulie L. Pollard, which was found for New York from Fernandina, with a cargo of lumber, and which was burned at sea Saturday night. Saturday afternoon, according to Captain Powell, of the Pollard, the steward struck a match in the engine room to light the side lights when there was an explosion which set fire to the entire forward house, containing two tanks of gasoline.

The fire spread rapidly and the seamen were forced to flee to the stern without saving any of their effects. The timely arrival of the steamer Admiral Schley saved the crew from almost certain death.

NEW YORK IN DOUBT BRYAN CONFIDENT

Democrats and Republicans Both Claim the Empire State

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The last turn was given today to the political wheel of 1908. With the opening of the polls less than twenty-four hours away the leaders of the two great parties are giving their attention to the last details of what has been one of the most interesting campaigns in many years. Mr. Taft speaks this afternoon in Cleveland and tonight winds up his fight for the presidency at Youngstown, going then to Cincinnati to vote and hear the results of the balloting. Mr. Bryan is touring Northwestern Kansas and expects to reach his home in Lincoln tonight. He will get the returns over a special wire which has been run into his farm at "Fairview."

There was no change today in the announced estimates of the opposing national chairmen. Mr. Hitchcock of the republican committee holding steadfast to his forecast of 325 votes for Taft, and Mr. Mack of the democratic committee announcing himself as equally certain that Mr. Bryan will receive 333 of the 483 votes in the electoral college.

The last day of the campaign found Mr. Hitchcock early at his office in the Metropolitan tower and he will remain there until twelve o'clock tonight when he leaves for West Newton, Mass., to cast his vote. He will return Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hitchcock sent out last night a series of telegrams to national committee men and to state chairmen giving them their last instructions. Not a single state was omitted. Today the republican national chairman is in telegraphic communication with leaders of the party in all sections of the country. He advised them last night to feel at liberty to consult with him by telegraph or over the long distance phone as to any local conditions or details needing his attention. The republican campaign accordingly entered the telegraphic stage today and visitors to headquarters made their errands brief. There were few callers of note, however, as practically all of the leaders who have been here in consultation with the national chairman returned to their respective homes last week to look after local interests on election day.

National Chairman Mack of the democratic party also sent out his final instructions to state chairmen last night and at democratic headquarters in the Hoffman house the same rule as to telegraphic and telephonic communication prevailed.

The republican organization of New York state is making its final bid for votes below the Bronx today. Gov. Hughes is expected to deliver ten speeches in this city before midnight. The local republican leaders have received their instructions from State Chairman Woodruff and from County Chairman Parsons. They are working upon the belief that they will hold the Bryan majority in greater New York to the neighborhood of 80,000 and that Mr. Taft will come down to the Bronx with a plurality from the up-state counties sufficient to overcome the democratic vote in the city and leave a margin of 100,000 in his favor. The Tammany leaders and local democrats assert that Mr. Bryan will have a sufficient majority in greater New York to more than offset an unusually heavy republican vote from up-state.

The result as to state tickets remains in the balance and the confident claims of success put forth by

CHAIRMAN MACK SAYS:
"Mr. Bryan will be elected by a landslide. He will carry Maryland and the solid south, with New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, Indiana, Ohio, Delaware, Kansas and South Dakota—a total of 301 votes."

CHAIRMAN HITCHCOCK SAYS:
"We will carry New York, Ohio and Indiana. In fact, Mr. Taft will receive practically the same electoral vote as did President Roosevelt four years ago."

He Says That the Victory is Already Won

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Expressing supreme confidence in his election Tuesday by a surprising margin, both of the popular and electoral vote, William Jennings Bryan left here at 6 o'clock last night for his last trip of the campaign, which will be made today through northern Kansas, concluding on election eve with a monster rally in his home city.

Mr. Bryan told everyone who talked with him yesterday that he believed that the biggest surprise of their lives is in store for the republicans tomorrow. Despite all of the newspaper forecasts and the betting odds, Mr. Bryan is firmly convinced that he is to be swept into office by a great popular wave, and that his vote in states which have been hitherto regarded as impregnable republican strongholds is going to astonish the republicans.

This belief of the democratic nominee is genuine. The newspaper forecasts have not had the slightest effect upon his views. Most of these he points out have come from newspapers which are not supporting him and which are very partisan in their leanings.

What he does place reliance in are the straw votes which are published from time to time in the newspapers, and which show a change amounting to as much as 45 per cent from the Roosevelt vote of 1904 in his favor this year. This drift in the vote confirms what he has heard and what he believes is indicated in the great throngs which have greeted him throughout the country, and it is upon that he largely bases his confidence.

"I do not care to make any list of states in estimating the result of the election," he said, "for while I think the result is more certain in some states than in others, I would not want to discourage democrats in the less certain states by making discriminations."

"I believe that we will have votes to spare in the electoral college and in the popular vote."

republican state committee asserted that the republicans would re-elect Gov. Deneen and would carry the state for the national and state tickets by two hundred thousand.

Chairman Boesch of the democratic state committee asserted that the democrats would elect for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and would have a majority in the state of between 60,000 and 70,000.

TO USE VOTING MACHINES
Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—The day before election finds both the republican and democratic parties claiming victory in Indiana. Conservative observers are of the opinion that neither party will carry the state by a large plurality. In the hard-fought gubernatorial contest between James E. Watson, republican, and Thomas Marshall, democratic candidate, the liberal element has taken an active part. In behalf of Mr. Marshall and it is expected that he will make large gains in the cities. On the other hand Watson is thought to be very strong in small towns.

An early estimate of the result in Indiana Tuesday night is thought possible because of the presence of voting machines in 325 precincts.

KANSAS CAMPAIGN
TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2.—The close of the Kansas campaign is enlivened by an allegation by William A. White, manager of J. L. Bristow's campaign for senator that the railroads are seeking to elect a democratic legislature and democratic United States senator. The democrats are concentrating efforts on the legislature, H. H. Farrell being their candidate for senator.

FIGHT FOR CONGRESS
GUTHRIE, Okla., Nov. 2.—The largest political fight in Oklahoma is in the first congressional district where B. S. McGuire, republican, seeks re-election with good prospects of success.

As no full state ticket is to be chosen the factional fight that have overflowed into national politics will find no expression tomorrow. All factions are for Bryan and for the re-election of Senator Gore.

BRYAN WILL SPEAK
LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—The campaign in Nebraska closes with two rallies in this city tonight. W. J. Bryan will speak from the balcony of the Lincoln hotel while the republicans will hold a rally at the auditorium.

In tomorrow's election the republicans look to the farmers for heavy gains while the democrats expect to poll a heavy vote for Bryan in the cities. The republicans claim the state by 10,000; the democrats by 15,000. Sheldon, republican, is expected to be elected governor.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—The republican state chairman's latest figures are 100,000 plurality in the state for Taft tomorrow and an overwhelming legislature of republicans. The democrats say 50,000 plurality for Bryan.

BOTH CONFIDENT
SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—The campaign in this state has virtually closed, and both parties are confident. The republicans claim the state by 6,000 and the democrats by 10,000.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Chairman TRENTON, Nov. 2.—Both the democrats and republicans claim their candidates for president will carry New Jersey, but the republicans back their assertion by stronger figures.

BATTLE OF MICHIGAN
DETROIT, Nov. 2.—With Michigan generally conceded to Taft and Sherman by a large majority, interest in tomorrow's election is largely centered in the head of the state ticket.

BRYAN BY 6000
BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Both the leading parties claim victory in tomorrow's election in Maryland, the democrats insisting that Bryan will carry the state by at least 6,000 and that they will elect all of the congressional candidates. The republicans, however, declare that Taft will surely carry Maryland by a handsome majority. Conservative opinion, however, is that the result will be close.

TO WATCH ELECTION
DENVER, Nov. 2.—Interest in the election tomorrow centers in the probable election of democratic lawmakers to the supreme court to appoint special watchers for Purvis and Los Angeles counties to prevent ill-planned plans to pull up the vote in those counties by fraud which might change the result in the whole state.

WILL VOTE FOR BRYAN
CHRYSLER, Wis., Nov. 2.—Bryan's state ticket is expected to win the national vote in Wisconsin, with the republicans claiming a plurality of 2,000. The democrats claim the state by 10,000 and the republicans by 12,000. The result will be close.

Cooking-Ranges

Have More Improvements than all others combined! No other Ranges have these Features:

1. Single Damper (patented), worth the price of the range. One motion controls fire and oven. Saves fuel. Regulates the heat exactly.
2. Cup-Joint Oven Flues.—They don't leak heat. They insure better baking.
3. Patented Dock-Ash Grates. They afford a steadier fire—one that will keep over night. They save fuel, time and trouble.
4. Reliable Oven Indicator. Entirely protected from the smoke and steam of the oven.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

All who have followed the "Snoot" investigation will be interested in "The Cowboys' Romance," the new play in the Bennett-Moulton company's repertoire. It is only a mild picture of ranch life in Utah, but shows the evil of Mormonism, and the horror of polygamy. One of the characters in the play is a grandson of Brigham Young, and comes to hear all the powerful machinery of the Mormon church to force the daughter of a ranchman into a polygamous marriage. Anyone who has read the history of the "Mountain Meadow Massacre" can readily understand what this means. He is finally defeated in his wickedness by the sturdy manhood of a cowboy, that unassuming product of our glorious west. The coloring of the play is bold in treatment and there is a dash and spirit about it, without for an instant descending to the cheap and sensational. The comedy is spontaneous and bubbles up to the surface point at several places, especially during the courtroom scene. The play is instructive, too, presenting a picture of life and customs in Utah, which has never before been placed upon the stage. On Tuesday evening the returns of the election will be read from the stage. Matheus daily.

LILLIAN RUSSELL

Will Archie, the distinctive comedian of Lillian Russell's company in "Wilderness" has one of the greatest parts ever written for a player of his build. As "Bud" Mr. Archie recites off enough stunts to make George Ade jealous. Miss Russell will be seen at the Opera House soon.

MILDRED AND ROUCLERE

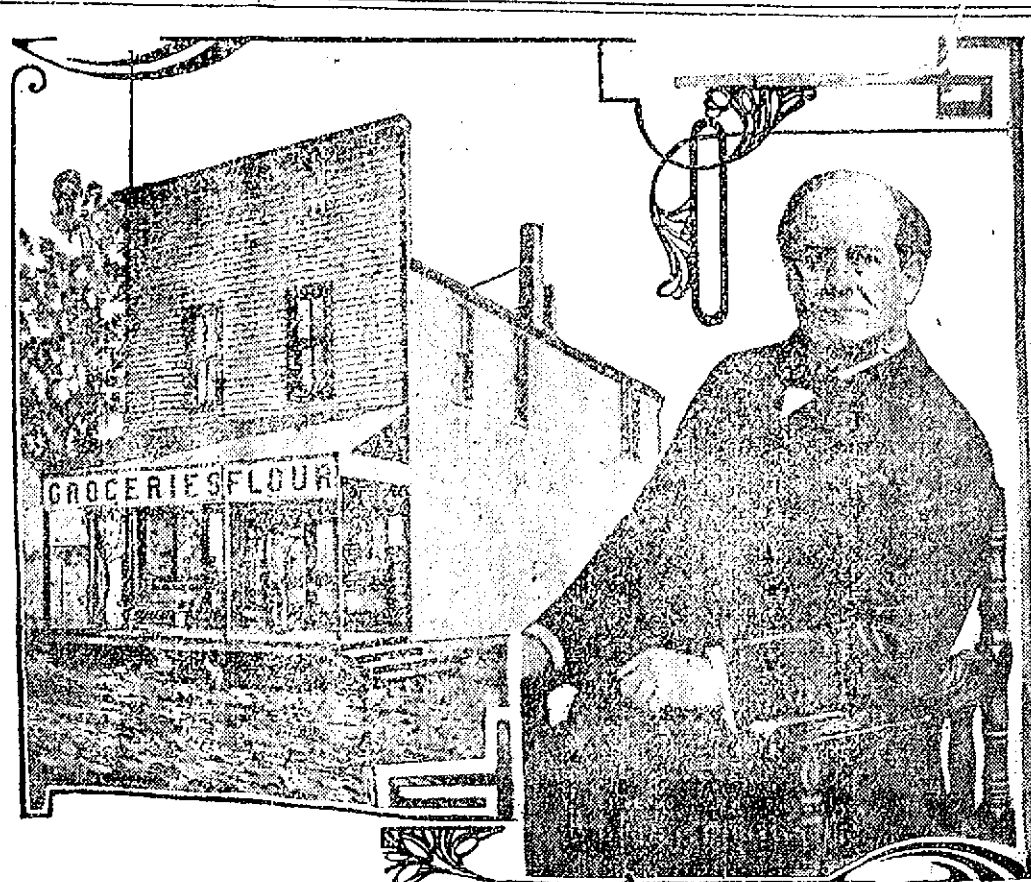

"The Sign of Princess Iris," a thrilling spectacular glittering fantasy containing the elements of melodramatic, original and ingenious mechanical and electrical effects, gorgeous scenery and portrayed by a company of clever artists will be seen here at the Opera House soon. The cast includes these well known artists Mildred and Rouclere supported by a company of well known performers.

"THE MERRY WIDOW"

Manager Henry W. Savage, whose "Merry Widow" Co. will be seen here at the Lowell Opera House following the close of the Boston engagement of this company, is noted for the elaborate manner in which all of his productions are made. "The Merry Widow" when seen here will be no exception to the rule and will be presented by the Boston company in its entirety.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

A reliable recipe for happiness is included with every seat check for Hathaway's theatre this week. The bill presented at the popular theatre is excellent in every respect and high class entertainment is assured to all who attend. The big number on a stellar list is presented by Ed. P. Reynolds, America's most famous ventriloquist, and his wonderful mechanical figures. Reynolds returns after a long absence, with his act greatly changed and improved. The scene is set to give an elaborate representation of the main square in a country town. Reynolds drives in his automobile, and is held up by a "Red" constable, armed with a shotgun, who threatens him with arrest for overspeeding. Then an angry, hell of a fellow, the youth remarking as he is picked up that it is the first time he ever got the hook. After an amusing colloquy with the ventriloquist, the boy sings in a fire department, and causing a Hebrew on the top door of the O'ory House building to hang out a fire sale announcement. The mechanical figures are wonderfully lifelike in their motions, and Reynolds' astonishing ventriloquial skill makes them seem like real live people. The dialogue is very bright and contributes notably to the fun. The Florenz family, the world's greatest society across, are an amazingly gifted quintet of ground and lanky tumblers. Four men, two in evening dress and two attired as women, and a pretty, handsomely groomed woman take part; and their goings-on to each other's shoulders, particularly from two-high and three-high formations, is marvelous. Thomas F. Ryan and Ruth Francis present a delightful sketch entitled "The Ward Heeler." In this comedy Mr. Keough plays two widely different characters, Dennis O'Brien, an Irish politician, and Jack Watson, a really young lover. He handles both parts artistically, his impersonation of the tough and slangy ward heeler being particularly natural and convincing. Miss Francis is a pretty

WILLIAM J. BRYAN WILL VOTE IN LITTLE STORE NEAR HIS HOME AT FAIRVIEW, NEB.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—The polling place nearest Mr. Bryan's home, Fairview, just outside of Lincoln, is in a small general store at the roadside. It is an unpretentious structure, standing alone in a large lot, and is in direct vision of the scene of evening gatherings where subjects of great moment are fluently discussed by Mr. Bryan's neighbors. The democratic candidate will reach Lincoln tonight after the most amazingly strenuous campaign of his career, having traveled tens of thousands of miles and addressed millions of people, speaking frequently as often as thirty times a day. Mr. Bryan ends the battle with little sign of fatigue.

FUNNYLAND

Today "The Army of Two," heads the bill at Funnyland and it will prove the most successful of historical pictures. "The Army of Two" tells of two sisters living on Long Island during the Revolution. The men folks are all away, leaving the two women in charge of a big store of powder in a nearby barn. The women discover the British as they approach and hurrying toward them they place a cannon on the brow of a hill and several muskets nearby. Then down to the foot of the hill concealed from the British they play on a life and drum as though several companies of Continentals were approaching the hill and would support the supposed scouts on the top. As the British come up the hill to investigate, "The Army of Two" fires cannon and the muskets giving the impression that there are plenty of men behind the brow of the hill. The British repulsed in their attack retreat leaving behind them a young officer who has been slightly wounded. "The Army of Two" captures the Britisher and in the end half of the army falls in love with him and gets him to enlist with the Continentals. As a special feature "My Dream of the U. S. A." will be sung again with new slides. There will be the usual comedies and other features of interest.

STAR THEATRE

Record breaking business the past week with the wonderful talking pictures. The management has engaged a corps of performers to take the principal parts in all dramatic pictures and they have made a great hit. There is as much genuine enjoyment, if not more, in seeing and hearing these talking pictures as in seeing a straight play. For the early part of the week the famous "Blue Bonnet" will be the feature picture, and it has been worked up to perfection. The picture itself is very popular, and with the addition of the talking parts it will no doubt be a great drawing card. Talking pictures may be seen only at this house. But not only talking pictures but the regular show besides. "My Brudee Sylvest" and "Brightest Star of All My Dreams" are the new songs. Both are new and widely different. The former, a novelty comedy song, and the latter a pretty ballad beautifully illustrated. Program is entirely new today.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The Academy of Music begins this week under new management, for the last of the country has passed to Hon. Joseph J. Flynn, congressional candidate and a theatrical manager of vast experience, and as soon as the election is over Mr. Flynn will immediately make plans to give the city of Lowell the best popular priced theatre to be found in New England. Mr. Flynn was formerly a partner of the late "Sandy" Grant, afterward of the leading theatrical firm of Cahn & Grant, and together they conducted the Lawrence Opera House for several years. Since then the Flynn circuit of summer theatres, including Lakeview, has become known from one end of the country to the other as having the Flynn repertoire and stock companies, all of which were owned and managed by Mr. Flynn. He knows the theatrical business from a to z. The Deshon-Pitt stock company this week will present the beautiful romantic drama, "The Eagle's Nest." Owing to her continued illness, Miss Della Deshon will not appear in the last this week, and the leading role will be played by Miss Crystal Benson, who made a pronounced hit last week in the leading female role in "By Night of Swords." The management has arranged to give complete election returns from the stage tomorrow evening. The usual reception matinee will be held and the amateurs will appear.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Clarkson H. Turner, foreman for the Lowell Gas Light company, and Miss Etta Agnes Myron were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's parish residence by Rev. Fr. McHugh. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Alice McDonald, and Mr. Milton G. Knowles acted as bestman. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Turner departed on their wedding tour and on their return they will reside at their new home, 23 Perrin street.

DUCHARME-DEMERS

Mr. Alexandre Ducharme and Miss Almeda Demers were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory in Merrimack street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I. Messrs. Napoleon Demers and Pierre Ducharme were the witnesses. There was a reception at night at the bride's home, 4 Racine place.

Miss Concorde Rousseau of Three Rivers, Que., who has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Lamoureux for several weeks, returns home today. During her stay in this country Miss Rousseau was also the guest of relatives in New York.
